

Bounty of Bethlehem Seeks New Director to Lead a Cherished Holiday Tradition

For more than four decades, the community has gathered in the true spirit of the season to host Bounty of Bethlehem, a warm and welcoming Christmas Day dinner open to all.

Bounty of Bethlehem is now seeking its next director—a community-minded leader who feels called to serve, enjoys organizing teams, and thrives on bringing people together for a shared purpose. This primarily volunteer role (with a stipend of up to $5,000) offers the opportunity to work alongside returning volunteers, partner organizations like The Salvation Army and the Community Foundation of Henderson County, and an experienced board.

The new director will oversee event planning and logistics, lead volunteer coordination, manage communications and fundraising efforts, and ensure that every detail of the event comes together in time for the big day.

If you find joy in service and in uniting the community for something meaningful and fun, we encourage you to learn more and consider applying.

Full job description is on the next tab called New Director