PURPOSE

Personal injury matters can involve insurance sources that may not be immediately apparent from the initial facts of the case. The MEA Potential Coverage Research Guide is designed to assist personal injury attorneys and their staff in reviewing the circumstances surrounding an injury and identifying individuals, businesses, property owners, employers, professionals, and other parties that may lead to potential avenues for additional insurance or related research.

The complete guide is intended for repeated internal use during initial case review, as additional information becomes available, or when determining whether further research may be appropriate.

MEA RESEARCH SERVICES

- Insurance Trace Research
- Skip Tracing
- Personal Asset Research
- Corporate Asset Research

INSURANCE TRACE RESEARCH

MEA Insurance Trace Research is performed for the reported date of loss and is designed to locate insurance information valid for that date, including the insurance carrier, policy number, and policy limits, when available through our research sources.

COMPLETE GUIDE

The full guide includes research worksheets and considerations for automobile and transportation incidents, premises, medical and other malpractice, Dram Shop/alcohol-related incidents, workplace matters, construction, products and equipment, animal-related injuries, wrongful death, umbrella/excess considerations, and a final research worksheet.
