

Summary of George DeLorme's Key Qualifications as an Instructor

About the Owner of Truck Driver Nation – George DeLorme

With over five years of experience as a freight dispatcher and an extensive background in the trucking industry, I bring a wealth of knowledge and hands-on experience to my students. As an owner-operator of my own 18-wheeler, I have successfully dispatched my own freight while also assisting other drivers by providing available loads. This experience spans across various sectors, including local, over-the-road (OTR), regional, flatbed, step-deck, dry van, reefer, and car hauling.

In addition to my operational experience, I have a strong command of load boards (Truckstop, DAT, 123 Load Board), including how to search for, post, and manage loads. I also possess a comprehensive understanding of FMCSA regulations, DOT compliance, Hours of Service (HOS), and Electronic Logging Devices (ELD) requirements, ensuring my students are well-prepared for industry standards.

My career in the trucking industry spans over 24 years as a truck driver, which not only gives me practical insight into the role of a driver but also positions me as a knowledgeable resource for others looking to transition from driving into freight dispatching. I am passionate about providing the tools for aspiring dispatchers and recruiters to succeed, offering real-world scenarios and training that prepares them for their future careers.

I also completed a Freight Dispatching and Brokerage course and have successfully trained others in this field. As a driver recruiter with connections to over 58 carriers, I have a network of industry contacts that further enriches the learning experience for students in my programs.

Additionally, I have worked with a variety of brokerages such as TQL, C.H. Robinson, and others, giving me a broad understanding of the brokerage side of the business. I am also adept in Transportation Management Systems (TMS) and Customer Relationship Management (CRM) tools, ensuring a seamless integration of technology into the dispatching process.

Having a background in paramedic and nursing school (combined with my time in the U.S. Navy), I've developed strong teaching and communication skills that allow me to effectively convey complex concepts to students of varying experience levels. My ability to be patient and supportive ensures that every student, from beginners to seasoned truck drivers looking to transition into dispatching, receives the guidance they need to succeed.

As the founder of Truck Driver Nation, I am committed to equipping my students with the right tools and knowledge to thrive in the logistics industry. Whether you are looking to become a freight dispatcher, driver recruiter, or freight agent, I provide affordable and practical training that minimizes initial investment costs while maximizing success.
