Denise Lindgren

The City of Lewisville and the Visual Art League of Lewisville present Meaning Through Memory, a solo exhibition by Denise Lindgren, on view from July 12 to August 9, 2025, at The Lewisville Grand Gallery. Featuring over 40 mixed-media assemblages and collages, the exhibition reveals how everyday fragments of the past carry deeper stories--inviting reflection beyond the surface. An opening reception will be held on Saturday, July 12 from 7-9 pm and an artist talk will be on Sunday, July 20 from 3-5 pm.

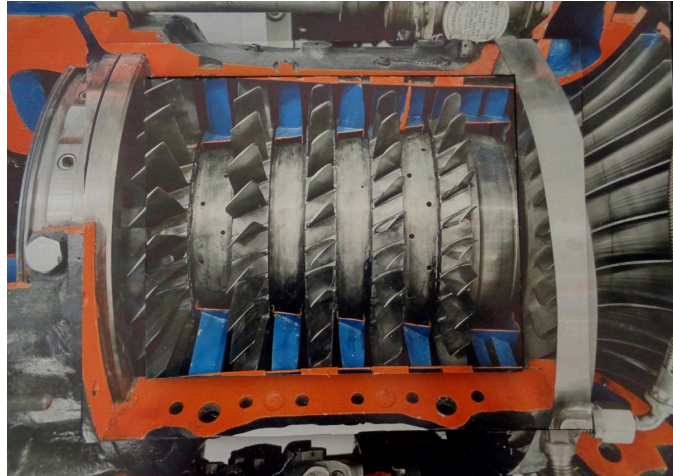

Denise Lindgren is an artist who came to her work through personal exploration and experimentation. Her art practice has unfolded over more than 25 years through exhibiting her work in juried shows and galleries. Her assemblages weave memory, material, and meaning. Lindgren's work has been recognized with numerous distinctions and is included in private collections across the country. Chris Miller

Join Spiritual Artist CJ Miller on June 7 from 1–3:30 p.m. at North Haven Gardens for a dynamic workshop that helps you let go of control and discover the joy of spontaneous creation. Using music and movement, you'll create asemic marks—the foundation for your expressive spiritual painting—while exploring your unique Creative DNA and intuitive artistic voice. After a grounding exercise and an engaging partner activity called Asemic Repetitions, you'll build an abstract painting on 11 x 14" Bristol board, learning to refine your work by focusing on what's unfolding naturally. The workshop includes all supplies, personalized instruction (limited to 18 participants), and a copy of CJ's book The Spiritual Artist. Come prepared to move, play, and explore—because when you trust the process, art reveals itself in ways you never expected.
