Ministry News:

May has been a month of blessings and challenges. We are planning an area wide outreach to correspond with camp meeting in July. We now have secured a large venue for the meeting. The children in the church have started practicing to sing as a youth choir for the meeting as well. We have had several opportunities for witnessing, including two train rides that allowed us to share the Gospel many times. We have some sicknesses around the church at the moment. Our church secretary, Sandi is dealing with headaches and dizziness that the doctors cannot seem to help with. We are still on the radio, as well as having the internet radio station here at the church. Bible Institute is nearly done for this quarter and the students have really enjoyed it.

Family News:

Everyone here at the house is doing well physically and plodding through some discouraging events. Aric is still needing a job, we hope that the Lord provides one soon. On an encouraging note, two of our grandchildren who were diagnosed as autistic and non verbal back in the US, are beginning to talk more and more, interacting increasingly with their surroundings. My other granddaughters can both now say "Papaw," and you grandparents out there know how that feels. Thank you so much for your prayers. We do thank God for you all.
