Biz Talk Today TV Expands Distribution: Now Streaming Free on Mometu

Business & financial programming joins the curated entertainment platform's global lineup of niche channels

Washington, DC — February 17, 2026 — Biz Talk Today TV (BTT), the fast-growing business and financial news network at the forefront of modern streaming media, is now available on the free, ad-supported streaming platform Mometu — bringing its market coverage, expert interviews, and investor education programming to an entirely new audience across smart TVs, mobile devices, tablets, computers, and streaming TV hardware.

Mometu was founded by entertainment industry veterans seeking to solve a growing problem in streaming: too much repetitive content and not enough discovery. The platform specializes in independent, niche-based, and hard-to-find programming curated by real people rather than algorithms — allowing viewers to easily explore unique channels without subscriptions, accounts, or credit cards.

Through this new distribution agreement, viewers can now watch Biz Talk Today TV's expanding lineup of financial shows alongside Mometu's global catalog of films, documentaries, and specialty channels — all free of charge, supported only by occasional advertising that compensates creators and distributors.

“Streaming audiences are looking for authenticity and substance, not just more content,” said Todd M. Schoenberger, CEO of CrossCheck Media Inc. “Mometu's human-curated approach complements our mission perfectly. Biz Talk Today TV delivers real conversations with real experts, and expanding onto Mometu allows us to reach viewers who want deeper insight into markets, business, and the economy without barriers to access.”

BTT programming features interviews with Wall Street strategists, economists, portfolio managers, and industry leaders, covering markets, geopolitics, technology, entrepreneurship, and personal finance — designed for both experienced investors and everyday viewers looking to better understand the economy.

The launch underscores BTT's continued expansion across the streaming ecosystem. In addition to Mometu, Biz Talk Today TV programming is available across multiple digital platforms, including the CrossCheck Media channel on YouTube, and in audio format across fourteen global podcast platforms.
