

Stacey Kay

Stacey Kay received the highly anticipated GOLDEN BUZZER from Kardinal Offishall on City TV's new season of "Canada's Got Talent". Stacey is a Juno Award winning singer/rapper and motivational speaker who travels the world spreading her message about body positivity, and what it is like being a curvy girl in the music industry. Stacey has captivated audiences across Canada, the US, Asia and Europe, and has performed with/opened for: Stevie Wonder, David Foster, CeeLo Green, Bryan McKnight, Michael Bolton, Carly Rae Jepsen, and Kaitlyn Bristowe. Stacey is the host of the successful comedic podcast "I Have To Call My Sister".

Follow Stacey on all social media platforms to see what happens next!
@StaceyKayMusic @IHaveToCallMySister