POWER OF PLAY

Getting ready for school is an important milestone in your child's life. School readiness is more than being able to count from 1-10. Based on studies we recognise that children learn best through play including messy and risky play. This promotes skill development as well as social, emotional and physical wellbeing, these are paramount to become an active and positive learner.

Children learn through play and begin to explore ideas and language, manipulating objects, roleplay and experimenting.

Play is the highest form of research- Albert Einstein

OUR PROGRAM

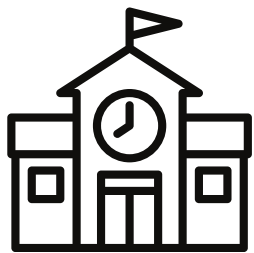

Our program has been designed and guided by the Early Years Learning Framework and we incorporate teachings from Reggio Emilia to support the child as a natural explorer. Throughout the program your child will develop independence, confidence and build strong relationships.
