

Southern Tank Midwest Announces Transition to SoCo Management Group

New name reflects a broader focus on compliance, technology, and facility support

December 16, 2024

ELGIN, Ill. - Southern Tank Midwest today announced that the company will begin operating as SoCo Management Group, LLC effective January 1, 2025. The new name reflects the company's continued evolution beyond traditional tank-related services and its broader focus on compliance management, facility support, technology, and operational coordination.

The transition to SoCo Management Group builds on the company's experience supporting petroleum marketers, convenience retailers, and multi-site operators with practical solutions designed to reduce administrative burden, improve visibility, and help keep facilities operating efficiently and in compliance.

Under the SoCo name, the company will continue to support clients through managed compliance services, field-service coordination, documentation and reporting, vendor management, and technology-enabled operational support. The rebrand also provides a platform for SoCo to expand into adjacent facility and asset-management needs as customer requirements continue to evolve.

SoCo Management Group remains veteran-owned and committed to responsive service, industry experience, and long-term customer relationships.

Customers, vendors, and industry partners will begin seeing the SoCo Management Group name and branding across company communications, materials, and digital channels as the transition is completed.
