THE WCAO GOOD GUYS BASKETBALL TEAM

- Johnny Dark In his first full season as player-coach of the Good Guys. A veteran of seven seasons on the Big 60 basketball circuit. Baltimore's #1 rated radio personality for a decade.
- Bob Bartel The ski "nut" of the Good Guys. He thinks snow the year round. WCAO's afternoon News Editor. He suffered a broken collarbone during the softball season and was out of action from June 28th on.
- Dave MacKay Host of the Big 60 all-night show. Sporting the heaviest sideburns on the squad. Davey is known on the court as a real hustler and an exceptional rebounder for his size.
- Robert C. Allen, III Baltimore's favorite morning radio personality and humorist par excellence. Not noted for his shooting ability but surprised several opponents and himself last season with push shots from 25 feet out.
- Rockie Cooke Tallest of the Good Guys and last seasons top scorer. Starting his third season wearing the blue and white. Off the court, he is regarded by his team mates as an exceptional film critic.
- Skip Mazan This will be Skip's seventh season on the Good Guys squad. He spent some time in the Baltimore Oriole organization and remains active as a member of the Schaefer softball team. His backcourt play for WCAO has been outstanding.
- Jim Wizbicki One word describes Jimmy's play - unselfish. Regarded by his team mates as "Mr. Team" because of his style of play. A knee injury forced him to miss most of last season.
- Max Byrd Another veteran of seven seasons with the Good Guys, Max has been involved in sports, in one capacity or another, most of his life. The "Byrd Man" is known for his half-time pep talks.
- Earl Rollison Joined the team last season and impressed everyone with his hustle and defense. Without a doubt, last year's outstanding addition.
- Bill Benson The Good Guys Court Jester. Noted for his ability to get the big rebound. Keeps the team laughing in the dressing room and after each game.
- Jim Young When injuries sidelined several players last season, Johnny Dark put Jim into a uniform and pointed him in the direction of the court. The Good Guys Most Valuable Player Award recipient for his fantastic softball play.
- Bob Johnson In a Big 60 uniform for his sixth season. Bob displays hustle every minute he's in the game. A Corporal with the Maryland State Police, he has assisted WCAO with many of its safety programs.
