

Hello Parents!

We are excited to begin our improv class in just a few weeks! This class is co-taught by myself and my husband, Aaron. We're both former homeschool students turned teachers!

This class does not require your students to bring any materials. We just ask that they show up ready to participate! Please make sure they dress appropriately- for the girls that means if they're wearing a dress or skirt they need shorts underneath!- and all should wear deodorant ;)

Improv is a great way for students to build up the ability to think quick on their feet. During my high school years, there were many classes with concepts I never ended up using in my adult life- but improv is one of the few classes that develops skills they will use in life! Improv is not about making the class laugh with theatrics (although we do enjoy that too!)- it's about coming up with ideas on the spot, building confidence, and feeling comfortable speaking in front of a group!

Some students may feel awkward/uncomfortable the first few weeks- they are doing something new and having to put themselves out there in front of their peers! This is normal. I encourage you to remind them that discomfort is a sign of growth. You can't grow in your comfort zone!

In class we will have lots of fun and games, plus time to practice those improv skills I mentioned above for real life application, like mock job interviews!

We will be at the Open House on July 31st- if your student is new to Trinity or just has never met us, this is a great chance for them to do so before the first day of class :)

If you ever have any questions or concerns, please feel free to email me at thiateach@gmail.com

Thanks!
