Do you remember our 2023 Resolution, ‘Clean Rivers for People and Wildlife’?

This called for the creation of officially designated bathing sites along stretches of rivers. Bathing water status means that the water is clean and bacteria-free for paddling and swimming, and this water must be tested by law.

To support LFWI with this resolution, Jack Spees, the CEO of Ribble Rivers Trust, came to Croston House to talk about the work that the Trust does to improve the health of our local rivers.

He has kindly agreed to come back to give WI members an update on their work and share his experiences in the quest to improve the water quality in our rivers.

There is no charge for this event, just come along to hear an interesting talk, have refreshments, and find out about ways to get involved. Have a chat with Jack, who will answer any questions you may have, as well as meet other WI members.

This event will be available to book on the LFWI website from Thursday 31st July.
