MARK RICHMAN

Mark Richman holds a summa cum laude Bachelor of Arts degree from UCLA, a Master's degree in piano from Juilliard, and has pursued doctoral work at Boston University. His principal teachers include Leonard Shure, Aube Tzerko, Rosina Lhevinne, Jacob Lateiner, Emmanuel Bay, and Leah Effenbach. For five years, Richman was a lecturer in music at UCLA, where he taught piano, chamber music, and music history. Currently he has joined the distinguished Piano Faculty of the Mike Curb College of Arts, Media, and Communication at Cal State Northridge.

Mr. Richman has received high acclaim for his recitals in the United States, Jamaica, Mexico City, and Moscow, where he was a participant in the 5th International Tchaikovsky Competition. He has been a frequent soloist with leading orchestras in Southern California, including the L.A. Philharmonic, the Glendale Symphony, the Beverly Hills Symphony, the Beach Cities Symphony, and the American Youth Symphony. Last year, Mr. Richman won the Moments of Music Foundation Concerto Competition for Teachers for the second time. As a chamber musician, Mr. Richman has performed on live radio broadcasts on KFAC and KUSC. As an accompanist, he has assisted Jascha Heifetz at USC and has performed with many of the world's finest concert artists including violinist, Michael

Rabin and flutist, James Galway.

Mr. Richman has been the recipient of many awards, including a YMF Career Grant, first prize in the Frank Sinatra and Aaron Richmond Competitions, and was Grand Prize winner in the Atwater Kent Competition. In 1974, he received the Official Resolution of Commendation by the City of Los Angeles for his many musical accomplishments.

In addition, Mr. Richman maintains a very active private teaching studio, and several of his alumni have earned music degrees at the nation's most prestigious universities and conservatories, and have also gone on to win major prizes and awards at the state, national, and international levels.
