

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

On March 10, 2000, Elva was 9 weeks pregnant when she had a miscarriage at home. She put her baby in a jar of Holy Water to baptize the baby. Elva and her husband, Dan, named the baby, Terry Gabriel, and with the help of a priest, buried the baby in a special place in their yard. Elva wanted baby Terry to be reburied with her when she died.

Elva believed God gave her this baby for a reason and she often asked her child in heaven to intercede for her and help lift her prayers to God.

On August 22, 2019, Elva died suddenly and peacefully. When her husband dug up baby Terry, the jar of Holy Water remained pristine clear and baby Terry had not decomposed. The photo on this prayer card was taken August 24, 2019 after Terry had been buried 19 years.

“Before I formed you in the womb I knew you.”
Jeremiah 1:5

More Info: <https://babyterry.net>

