•PREPPING FOR YOUR SHOOT•

Here are ways to prep for your upcoming shoot:

- Breathe, It's not as scary as it seems! Within 15 minutes of being in the studio, you will start to warm up.
- If you are wearing items from the client closet, do a try-on session if you'd like to make sure everything fits right and not waste time the day of your shoot.
- Wear loose clothing for 2-3 days leading up to your shoot to prevent lines and marks all over your body.
- Try to book your session around your menstrual cycle to help give you a more empowering experience.
- STRETCH. Trust me on this one.
- Drink plenty of water.
- Be mindful of tan lines if you are tanning or self-tanning, these are things that cannot always be corrected on the back end.
- If you want to shave before your session, do it the night before or the morning of to reduce irritation
- Paint your fingernails and toenails if desired.
- Lather up in lotion before you arrive to save time.
- If you are getting your hair and makeup by one of my stylists, please bring your own foundation and come with clean dry hair and a washed face!

•WHAT TO EXPECT•

What to expect on the day of your session:

- You will arrive on time at your designated appointment time. Once you arrive we will start your complimentary hair and makeup. This will take around an hour or so. You will get to choose what colors for eyeshadow, and lipstick. We will also curl or straighten your hair if you want.
- After we are finished with that, we will take a look at your outfits. We will make a game plan at this point of what order we are going to shoot in.
- You will get dressed, and we will start the shoot! Don't worry, I pose in front of you to show you exactly what it should look like, then you will do it. I will help position you the way you need to be as well as fix your hair and make sure you look perfect.
- Once we finish shooting, I will explain how long it takes to get your photos and how you will receive them! It's pretty simple!
