Russet Perry Releases Statement On Winning The Democratic Nomination For Senate District 31

Russet Perry has won the Democratic nomination in Senate District 31 in Loudoun and Fauquier Counties. Russet is a former CIA officer and Loudoun County prosecutor who has been serving this community since 2006. This race is projected to be the most competitive seat in Virginia this cycle.

“I am honored to be your candidate for State Senate,” said Russet Perry. “I am so grateful to the volunteers, supporters, voters, and my family who made this victory possible.

From securing reproductive rights for Virginians to investing in public education and advancing gun safety, the critical issues in this race are ones that are deeply personal to me as a former CIA officer, prosecutor, and current Loudoun County Public Schools parent. This community deserves a Senator with a track record of public service who can stand up to Republican extremists and protect our rights. I am excited to continue working every day, listening to voters, and earning support in every corner of this district.”
