

Our Bunny Recommendations

Supplies & Services

Updated for April, 2024

What you'll find here include our rescue recommendations for:

- Food
- Litter
- Housing
- Toys
- Pet Carriers
- Emergency Kit Essentials
- Boarding Recommendations (care when you travel)
- Veterinary Care
- Example photos of bunny living spaces

Just a reminder: We do free nail trims every month on the third Saturday of the month at our Bunny Basics events! We're happy to teach you how, how to take a bunny temperature, or answer any bunny-related questions! Bunnies usually need a nail trim every 2 months or so. Just let us know you want to come for a trim so we can give you an appointment time. We're always so happy to see our community bunnies. ♥ We sometimes sell willow wreaths (a bunny treat/activity toy) at these events when it is in season!

Food Amount Recommendations

This is what we go by for our rescue bunnies! Below, we've provided our amount guide. Use this as a starting point for your bunny's needs, but always provide unlimited hay!

Food Type	Amount	Frequency
Hay Timothy or Orchard Grass + Oat Hay	Unlimited (expect bunny to eat their size in hay daily!)	Unlimited
Pellets	1/8 th cup (small to medium bunny) 1/4 th cup (large bunny)	Daily total (give once; can be with breakfast, dinner, or break up throughout the day if desired!)
Leafy greens Romaine, green or red leaf lettuce, herbs, butter lettuce, dandelion greens, etc.	1 cup per 2 lbs of bunny weight (5 lb bunny gets 2.5 cups / day)	Daily total (give once; can be with breakfast, dinner, or break up throughout the day if desired!)
Other Veggies	Carrot: ~3 carrot coins or 1 baby carrot	Can be daily depending on your bunny

HUNTSVILLE HOUSE RABBITS

Food Type	Amount	Frequency
Bell Pepper, carrot, zucchini, etc	1-2 tblspns / day
Fruits	Approximately 2 tblspns (1/8 th apple, few small blueberries, etc.)	2-3 times weekly
Treats	1 treat Favor treats made of hay and those containing probiotics!	2-3 times weekly

What fruits and veggies are safe? We recommend checking out this great listing:

Pellet Brand Recommendations

We are very picky in terms of quality and ingredients! Below are a list of our favored pellet brands and those we ask you to avoid!

Note: If your rabbit is under 4 months old, please get the “young” or “junior” rabbit variety.

Brand	Picture	Where to Buy?
Oxbow Any “flavor”! - Garden Select - Original - Harvest		Tractor Supply Co. Petsmart Petco PetSupplies Plus Chewy.com Amazon
Science Selective Either House Rabbit or Adult Variety!		Petsmart Petco PetSupplies Plus Chewy.com Amazon
Sherwood Premium & Natural		Sherwood Website Chewy.com Amazon

Brand	Picture	Where to Buy?
Small Pet Select		Small Pet Select Website Amazon

We avoid these brands:

Kaytee, Extreme, VitaKraft, Small World, Manna Pro, Sunburst, Menu, Brown's Tropical Carnival

Anything with seeds, corn, or colored bits is always avoided!

*Note: Kaytee Forti-diet is good quality. We do not recommend any other pellet by this brand. Please steer clear of colored bits, seeds, corn, granola, and anything labeled "Fiesta Mix"!

Hay Brand Recommendations

This is the hay bunnies tend to prefer that is readily available! The best value for quality tends to be Standlee hay from Tractor Supply Co. and Small Pet Select hay from Chewy.com or Amazon.

Note: If your rabbit is under 3 months old, please get the alfalfa hay. As bunny grows up, mix with timothy. We transition baby rescue bunnies to full timothy by the time they are 6 months old.

Treat Recommendations

We're very choosy when it comes to treats. You can't have a treat all the time, so better make it a good one! Never choose treats high in sugar, containing dairy, containing nuts or seeds or corn, or vibrantly dyed colors. These are the treats we use for our rescue rabbits!

Remember to give treats sparingly. Most of the treats shown below can be broken up into at least two pieces. We recommend beginning with a treat 2-3 times a week and monitoring how your bunny's weight and habits progress.

Selective Naturals Meadow Loops or Sticks (any flavor)		Tractor Supply Co. PetSmart Petco Chewy.com Amazon

Litter Recommendations

Not much room for debate here! We're very simple when it comes to litter, and there are only a few we can recommend! All of our volunteers (and most rescues) use one of these or a combination.

NEVER use cat litter for your rabbit. The abrasive particles can lead to serious respiratory issues!

Type/Brand	Picture	Where to Buy?
Kiln-Dried Pine Pellets + soft chopped straw as a topper to protect heels While the chopped straw is optional, it lasts a long time and goes a long way to helping protect bunny heels. We do recommend trying it.		Tractor Supply Co
Paper: Many brands (please get unscented!) Carefresh Yesterday's News Full Cheeks (Petsmart) Kaytee clean & cozy Small Pet Select Critter Care		Tractor Supply Co Chewy.com Petsmart Petco Walmart Amazon

Housing Recommendations

We're more interested in listing types of items here than specific brands, but if you'd like brand recommendations, please let us know. These are the essentials for a bunny to be comfortable! We never recommend cages. We always recommend housing indoors (it's a must)! We are strongly any kind of wire flooring, as this slowly deforms bunny feet over time, eventually preventing the ability to hop. Please also be careful to avoid grids, as we have experience with bunnies getting nails (or even toes!) stuck in them.

Item	Picture	Details
Exercise Pen		At least 4' x 4' please! Many stores carry this, and sometimes even thrift stores or Facebook Marketplace. Even the Amazon.com brand ones are very good.
Washable Waterproof mat or floor covering		While there are many out there, and many on Amazon, but sometimes a special picnic blanket is a great substitute! We've even heard of community members using waterproof tablecloths!

Item	Picture	Details
Fleece or soft mat or blanket		Any fabric or home store; Walmart always has fleeces in stock.
Litter box	 	Nothing with a grid or grate over the top! Don't get a small corner litterbox. These are always quickly replaced. We find large open-top cat pans or low storage bins work best. These are large and easy for the bunny to use.
Water Bowl (Not a bottle!)	 	Heavy ceramic (or something similar) works best! Water fountains are great, but be sure they are heavy and that the water is changed daily.

Item	Picture	Details
Cardboard (or other) hidey house Remember bunny needs 2 entrances/exits! Always an escape route!		If you don't have a cardboard box for your bunny, feel free to ask us or in our community group! Odds are, someone has one for your bunny! And please: no staples, no excessive tape, and no heavy transferrable ink. Labels are generally okay.
Toys / Enrichment		(Our recommendations follow!)

Toy Recommendations

Enrichment is very important! We've included homemade toy ingredients as well as purchasable toys and enrichment such as chew sticks. Avoid anything with vibrant dyes, seeds or corn, or with pieces that can be bitten off and possibly swallowed.

Toy Type	Picture	Details
Paper Towel or toilet paper rolls		These are fun to toss, shred, or you can even fill it with herbs, pieces of treat, a few pellets, and some hay, pinch in the ends, and give your rabbit a fun activity!
Cardboard shred boxes		Bunnies love to dig! Here's how to make a digging box: https://bunnylady.com/diy-rabbit-digging-box/

Toy Type	Picture	Details
Chew Sticks! Apple wood and sweet bamboo are our go-to's! Bunnies need to chew to keep their ever-growing teeth at a safe length.		Apple sticks: Amazon, or our parent rescue Alabama Rabbit Rescue, who sells fresh ones with every Facebook auction! Sweet bamboo: we recommend Amazon, and the brand Bissap!
Prepared Pinecones from an unsprayed tree Must be sanitized first!		Directions here: https://www.timbercreekfarmer.com/pine-cone-rabbit-treats-keep-bunnies-active/
Wicker Balls		Generally a bunny favorite, we've been able to find good batch deals on Amazon. Remove any jingle bells that the balls may contain.
Puzzle Toys		Oxbow and several other brands make these. Some bunnies enjoy them!

Fabric or cardboard tunnel		Usually marketed to cat owners, bunnies love tunnels! You can also make your own out of cardboard. Amazon Walmart (cat tunnel) Petco

Pet Carrier Recommendations

There are also many places that carry these, but our favorites are durable, have a top-open feature, aren't extremely expensive, and are easy to clean! Here are our top 3 carriers that are easy to find and purchase.

Brand	Picture	Where to Buy?
Vibrant Life or Duskocil This comes in several sizes to make sure you're getting the right size for your bunny!		Walmart Walmart.com
Amazon (many storefronts) There's a removable pad inside that is washable and multiple openings.		Amazon.com
Whisker City Easy to find, a removable washable pad, and multiple openings!		PetSmart Petsmart.com

Our Emergency Kit Essential Recommendations

We recommend you keep these 5 items on hand at all time for your bunny!
Please research and be able to recognize the signs of GI Stasis. Reach out to us if you need more information about this. We're happy to help! This is very important to your bunny's safety.

Item	Picture	Description
#1: Flex Tip Thermometer		Taking a bunny's temperature is vital. Do this first. It MUST be done rectally. Scanning thermometers do not work well. Ear temperatures are not accurate. If the bunny is cold, they need to be warmed with a warm towel or infant-safe heating pad. Normal temperature is 100-102.5 F
#2: Vaseline		Use this as a lubricant to help the thermometer fit more comfortably.

A SATELLITE OF ALABAMA RABBIT RESCUE

Item	Picture	Description
#3: Baby Gas Drops		A full dropperful with tummy massages can help tremendously against gas pain, built up from GI Stasis! We do not recommend doing more than 1 dropperful every 4 hours. (Three times in one day is our maximum if no effect is seen. We do not repeat after that.) Usually it will take 1-2 hours before you can see an effect.
#4: Oral Syringe (no needle)		These can come from Amazon, or your vet may be willing to give you a few. The large kind is handy for administering emergency food mix (like Critical Care). The small kind is great for medicine.

#5: An Emergency Food (any one of the below): Oxbow Critical Care Herbivore (any flavor) ★ Our favorite! (You can keep in the freezer after opened) Or Sherwood Timothy Recovery Food Or Small Pet Select Nutri-Rescue Or Science Selective Recovery Plus		This is essential to getting your bunny's GI system working again! Always ask your vet beforehand about using this. If bunny is not eating, this is a necessary part of treatment.

HUNTSVILLE HOUSE RABBITS A SATELLITE OF ALABAMA RABBIT RESCUE

Item	Picture	Description
Lataxone gel (helps move swallowed fur along) Tomlyn brand Maple or Catnip flavor (herb-y!) Or Dechra brand Cat Lax		Local veterinarians recommend about 1 mL (or about a toothpaste-dab amount) every week for shedding bunnies. This helps prevent GI Stasis, especially in long-haired breeds!

Other items you might consider having on hand: towels, heating pad (infant safe), large size oral feeding syringe, betadine and cottonballs (dilute betadine yourself at home with a sterilized jar and measuring spoon), qwik stop powder

Pictures of Wonderful Bunny Spaces

Here are some photos of bunny spaces provided by some of our foster families or a family in the bunny community. These are great examples of a safe, friendly, welcoming space for a bunny with plenty of room and enrichment!

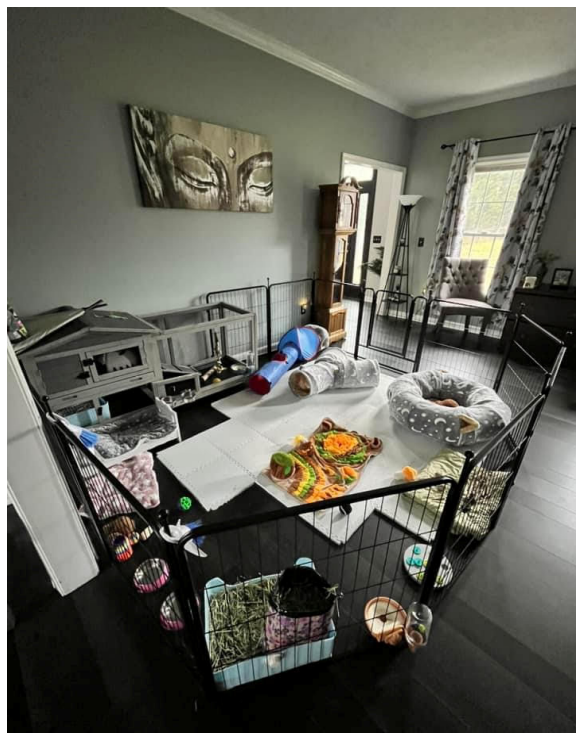

In the pictures, there are: no exposed / unprotected wires in reach of the bunny, no grids or grates or wire bottoms for the bunny to get nails caught on, plenty of space, a hide house with at least two entrances, a litterbox adequately sized to the bunny, toys, water bowl, hay available at all times, soft flooring (fleece, blanket, or soft mat), exercise pen or free roam enclosable space.
