Information Release from the Villa Capri Cruisers

Recently it has been brought to our attention that someone has been operating under our name. This person does not have anything to do with our organization. This saddens us that someone would take advantage of a charitable organization and use it for their own personal gain. Due to this, we have had to make some changes to protect our club. We have now started a new email address, villacapricruiserspa@gmail.com, and both previous email addresses are no longer active. Our Facebook page will remain active and can be contacted at any time. We will continue to maintain our website, and will update it with any changes along with our Facebook page. Furthermore any important business will be handled by the individual listed below. Those who have any questions can contact us via email or Facebook Messenger.
