Wisdom Soccer

Something to Be Proud of

It's been a very good year for Wisdom Soccer teams. Never before has so much energy and determination been directed toward high achievement in this demanding sport at Wisdom. As a result of so much hard work, certain team members were honored this year by the Maine State Soccer Coaches Association. Greta Fongemie was the only St. John Valley player named to the 1982 All State soccer team. With 15 goals and 9 assists for a total of 24 points, Greta was also selected to the All-East Class B squad along with junior teammate Paula Martin. Pioneer girls receiving honorable mention were Diane Nadeau and Sue Michaud. Wisdom goalie Kurt Albert was the only Valley booter selected to the All-East Class C boys team.

Girls Soccer

E.T.?????

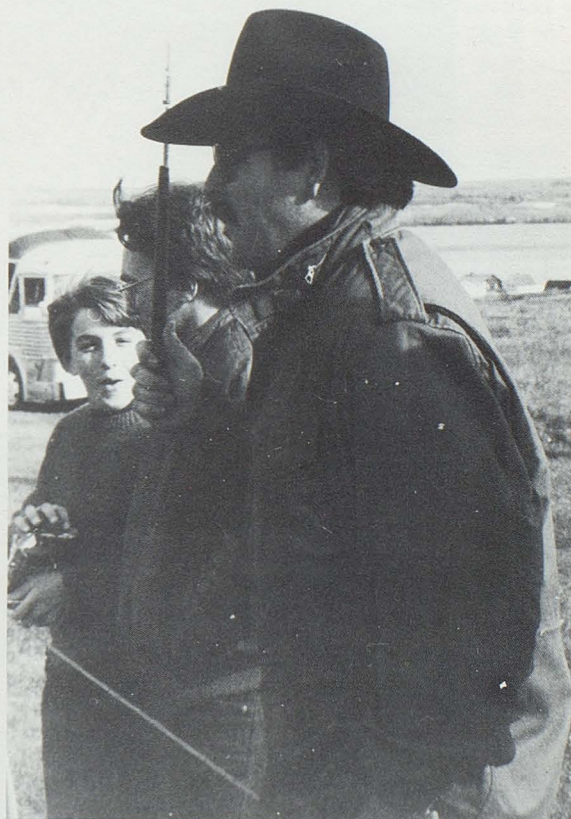

It wasn't until they got much closer that two young kids far off to the left finally decided that indeed this figure was not the famous movie star E.T. but an equally friendly and cute creature, Mrs. Judy Bougie enjoying a girls soccer game from a nearby hillside.

Our Pioneers

When this is read I hope the pain
Has had time to subside,
And now that it is over, let it
Not shatter your pride.
For Pioneers are mighty folks,
Determination in your veins,
We will survive and someday soon
The Pioneers will reign.
Our Wisdom Ladies played their best
through pain and injury,
But they are winners even though
Deprived of victory.
Our Pioneer boys gave all they had to try and reach their dream,
They knew it took the effort of not one, but the whole team.
The dream, however, did not come,
At least not for this year,
But watch for us in '83
It's time for the Pioneer.

This is the day when all hell breaks loose at Wisdom. Just ask Beckie Guerrette (the one with the horns) and poor Sandra Sirois, the unfortunate victim. Ricky Michaud (lower left) just never looked so healthy . . . and pretty!! Standing with Ricky is Renee Daigle who gets a chance to see what she might look like at 55 years of age. Daren Roy shows that there is a little clown in all of us.

A Proud Victory for Wisdom Seniors

WORLD OF DREAMS by: Paula Roy (1st Place)

Looking out before you, facing the unknown,
Afraid of what it might be, afraid 'cause you're alone.

There's something in the distance, a white and perfect pearl.

What meaning is behind it, is it another world?
A world where girls are pretty, where men are strong and true,

A place where good and bad collide, and good comes shining through?

Or is the pearl a symbol, a lesson to us all?
A lesson that the greatest things are tiny and are small?

That quality not quantity, is what is valued most,
That greatness does not give to one, the right to stand and boast.

The pearl rushes on right by, then stops for a moment or two,

Hold out your hand in friendship, it may return to you.

By chance it is returning, and snuggles in your palm,

You hold a World of Dreams now, be gentle and be calm.

Le Monde du Rêve
By: Anne Bouchard
(1st Place)

Sur les ailes du rêve, je me laisse transportée
Dans un monde inconnu,
Là, où règnent l'amour, la paix, la fraternité
Et mille fois plus!
Les moissons, aussi libres que la mer infinie,
Offrent leurs blés mûrs
A tous ceux qui viennent les cueillir sans parti
Elles les donnent sans murmure.

Le soleil puissant verse ses rayons parfumés
Et les change en or
Sur les plaines verdoyantes, où l'herbe embaumée
Chante dès l'aurore.
Le ciel d'azur fait tomber une pluie de fleurs
Sur les canons endormis.
Dans ce monde nouveau, jamais de guerre, ni de pleurs
Inconnu est l'ennemi.

Des millions d'étoiles scintillent dans la nuit pure
Et descendent des cieux;
Portées par les anges sur des nuées d'azur
Soulagent le malheureux.
Ta splendeur est immense, ton calme est infini; ô mon rêve
Prolonge mon sommeil.
Ne me quitte pas, tu vois la nuit s'achève
Beauté sans pareille!

LE MONDE DU REVE
By Anne Bouchard
(3rd Place)

Je rêve au jour où je pourrai
Cueillir la fleur qui s'ouvrira,
Pour révéler de douces pensées —
Celles dont ce monde possèdera.

Là, parmi des feuilles flétries,
Elles cacheront l'ennui, la peur;
Ah! Non plus de jours assombris,
Mais le sourire dans tous les cœurs.

Lorsque ta corolle s'ouvrira à l'aurore,
Elle répandra ton parfum enchanteur;
Il fera chanter et aimer encore,
Les hommes qui cherchent et qui pleurent.

Les plus éclatantes de ses couleurs,
Soulèveront nos joies en abondance.
Oh! Monde du rêve efface nos douleurs,
Fais revivre en nous l'espérance.

World of Dreams
By Kim Bouchard
(2nd Place)

Something different was in the air
A true sense of peace not quite felt before.
I sat by the unhurried water
And felt her breath on my face,
As the wind mildly swept by.
She is the old lady I had often seen
Not quite knowing exactly where.
Enjoying and experiencing as I
The mystery of the water today.
A perfect white pebble laid close by
Tempting a game of unknown destination.
A sight of dancing sunbeams and rippling water
Thrilled both our hearts with excitement.
Deeply within her, she felt a great joy;
For time had surely perfected her art.
A sudden gust of wind brought confusion in Nowhere was she to be seen.
With doubt, I glanced at the undisturbed water
Till I saw a reflection of the smiling old lady.
Her pebble and memories she kindly gave me
And reason to leave with much dignity;
On this special day that comes but once
In a wonderful world of dreams.

WORLD OF DREAMS

As I was walking through my
garden,
In the softness and the dark,
I smelled the sweetness of the meadow,
Heard the love — song of the lark.
It had been a day of trials,
A day of useless fights.
I wished I could be sweet and gentle,
Wished that I could see the "light."
When, in the softness of the
garden,
I beheld a wondrous sight.
A rose bloomed in the night.

Le Monde Du Rêve

Durant une marche dans le jardin,
Dans la tranquillité, au clair de la lune,
J'ai senti la fraîcheur de la nuit,
Une alouette chantait une chanson d'amour.

Quel changement de la journée passée,
Une journée d'épreuves et de tribulations.
J'aimerais être plus charmante,
Désir être plus patiente.

Quand dans la douceur du jardin,
J'aperçois quelque chose de magnifique,
Une rose qui fleuris dans la nuit.

World of Dreams

On the wings of a dream, I've travelled far away
To an unknown world,
Where reigned love, peace, perfect harmony,
And so much more.
Abundant crops, as infinite seas of ripe harvests,
Offered their gold.
I tasted their beauty, and had filled my baskets,
Of treasures untold.

The powerful rays of a charming sun, gently sprayed
Their richness on all the lands.
Perfumed winds swept the silvery grasses and laid
Those jolly bands.
Flowers from the Heavens fell upon to cover
The rusted artillery.
Beating was my heart to discover;
Never an enemy.

Millions of stars that I had seen dancing in the pure night,
Descended from their way,
Carried by angels. "Oh, marvelous sight,
Soothe the unhappy.
In you I've found splendor, infinite calmness — Oh my dream,
Prolong my sleep
And stay with me; the night is fading, it seems,
Dear World of Dreams!"

LE MONDE DU REVE

Souvent des rêves saisissent mes pensées
Et me transportent dans l'irréel,
Avec eux je flotte sur les blanches nuées
Bien installée sur leurs ailes.
Conduite dans une terre promise
Où l'on s'amuse follement
Dans ce paradis je suis prise
Parmi les êtres les plus charmants.
Elles me plaisent tes douces chansons,
O mon monde d'illusions.

Dans ce grand jardin loin d'ici
C'est agréable de cueillir,
Les délices des meilleurs fruits,
Qui soulagent et font rajeunir.
Du parfum des fleurs je veux m'ennivrer,
Et goûter son petit bonheur.
C'est magnifique de pouvoir rêver;
Je l'entends, il bat mon coeur.
Elles sont trop courtes tes magies,
O mon monde de fantaisies.
