Class of 1995

All Through!!!

The year was 1991. Forty-one students hesitantly entered the high school wing of the school for the first time as freshmen. As they worried about remembering their new locker combinations and if they could get their schedules straight, upperclassmen walked past them as if nothing was new. The fourteen-year-olds were experiencing many special "firsts" that would be remembered for a long time.

A great number of things happened that year for many of us freshmen. Many of us were struggling with the adjustment to new College Preparatory/Business/Tech.

Prep. courses we were taking. People got such nicknames as "Mel Rebel," "McMuffin," "Four-Barrel," "Duck," "Quakerstate/Mushroom," "Stew," and "Muhammad." Andy's famous saying, "CLANT!" became a household word. Barbie won first prize at various horse shows. Winter Carnival brought us the first of two consecutive sportsmanship awards. Whenever we had to endure hardships, we always got through it together.

1992 brought us to our Sophomore year. This was a year where it was "good to be bad!" New nicknames such as "Ansel Adams," "Alligator," "Donut," "Ping," "Goose," "Bun," "Waldo," "Hector," "Old-Fashioned," and "My Little Pony" could be frequently heard in the hallways. Most of us were enthusiastic about receiving our brand new class rings. Chad M. joined a rock band and Barbie, Jen V., and Kristin made All-Aroostook, and the boys' basketball team made the tournament. The cheerleaders had their first competition as well. Jen and Jer were the first class couple to last a long time. Many of us got confirmed. On stage, Shannon, Jen V., Mel R., and Jesse made their debut performance in "Nan's Diner," while Andy worked quietly backstage. "Pac-Nyacs," as they were called, loved to cause trouble everywhere. Another famous quote that could often be heard on the basketball court was, "Practice your shot and you'll be hot!" And still, we remained together.

As Juniors, we spent a lot of our time at the L'arc en Ciel. "Rrrraarr!" was often used as a warning when someone was in a bad mood. Karen and Scott were and still are our class couple. Our famous peer ed. trip, where Eric almost burned down Shannon's summer home,

Ourselves Through It All

Oftentimes throughout the years, we've found ourselves wondering, maybe even worrying about what others think of us. It's only human for people to form ideas and/or judgements about each other.

Well, the Senior votes are in, and you can finally stop wondering, because here is what they've been thinking about you.

home. With Mr. Cyr's videos and tons of worksheets, we got through SAT's. Carrie, Carrie was constantly told to "shave it." The prom was a great deal of work, but in the end, it was all worth it. Co-Ed Naked T-shirts became the hottest trend as did dance music. Barbie's imitations of Beevis and Butthead could make a roomful of gloomy people weep with laughter. Jeremy made the All-East team in soccer. Warnings came in to stay off the road whenever someone got their license. A few of us became aunts and uncles. Losing winter carnival by only 7 points was no big deal for us, seeing as how we had the best sculpture. "The Burning Fountain" was talked about for weeks. "Hey Al!" and "Ruby Dube" was heard every day for months. The loss of one of our classmates, Sara, put a damper on our moods for a while. At the end of the year, Troy moved to Madawaska and Jesse decided to go to college a year earlier in Arkansas. We also lost Melissa's car. But, still, we did it all together.

Now, we are Seniors. New nicknames can be heard in the halls, such as "Sou-Baratte" and "Frey." Amy T., Jen V., Karen, Chad, and Scott got their braces off. Carrie's famous interrupting cow jokes seemed to be the corniest of them all, while Jen was noted for always saying, "I'm cute, take me home!" Tina got into an accident, and is lucky to be with us today. Tammy's "bateau" was replaced by a new Taurus. In Advanced Biology class, we were able to live with sea animals for a while. Chad H. and Karen became "pregnant" for a day. Eric made All-East for soccer, and Amy L. made All-Valley. Many of us have finished looking for colleges and figured our other postgraduate plans, while others are still undecided. Graduation is just around the corner. We know that soon, we will be going our separate ways. No matter what we all decide to pursue, however, we know that we will be in each other's hearts for eternity because we've done it all, through thick and thin.

'95's Last Wills

Seeing as the class of '95 has so much to give, we obviously can't take it all with us, so we've decided to leave a little of it behind. And here are our last wills and testaments.....

I, Cory Albert, of sound, mind, and body, leave: Dwayne Dumais, the memories of all the good times in town and the parties of '94; Jeff, the ditch, the garage, and the 4-wheeler rides; Randy Marquis, the long talks at Jessie's and the rides in Fort Kent; Scott Corriveau, "Get off and push!"; my parents, all the headaches.

I, Eric Bouchard, leave my friends: Tammy, a lifetime supply of film and a camera; Scott, a rubber duck to take a bath with; Carrie, my back so she can scratch it and an extra big closet for all her clothes; Jill Michaud, a snowmobile that she can handle that doesn't look like a boat; Jen L., another kid, which equals 8 in all; Renae, a new car to replace the "Rabbit"; Amy L., a new helmet so she doesn't have to wear the "Big Red"; Jeremy, a big number 99 to remind him of the best hockey player that ever lived, Wayne Gretsky; Jessie, the complete "My Little Pony" collection; Mel Roy, a gadget to close her mouth when she talks too much; Barbie, an 8 x 10 picture of Mr. Rotella and a Calculus book.

I, Tina Bouchard, leave: Melisa, my house for parties and all our heart-to-heart talks; Christy, Lafontaine and alligator shoes; Jen V., rain and daisies; Nae, "Cent milles a l'heures" and all the guys at Tech.; Barbie, a "bastard" child and Psych. class; Carrie, a hiding place for everyone at the Yacht; Mom and Dad, all my love; all my classmates, the key to hell.

I, Carrie Chasse, leave: Tina Bouchard, Hector Morin; Mel Roy, A-1 and spamburger; Amy, my matching p-j's; Renae, "good tunes"; Jen, going out and my philosophy on life "happiness"; Jill, "I smell Chinese"; Jeremy, my 1-800-information number and Carrie, Carrie; Eric, a back scratcher and herman; Barbie, Pierre to dirty dance with; to the girls, and you know who you are I leave the many border runs and the Saturdays at L'arc. Memories NOW and FOREVER.

I, Monica Corriveau, leave: my parents and sisters, all my love; Shane and Elisha, all the toys in the world; my boyfriend, the future with me; Jeff and Kevin, the night at the movies and the day we went 4-wheeling; all the teachers, all the hard times I gave them; my classmates, the best of luck in the world.

I, Scott Corriveau, leave: Jeff P., all my snowmobile parts so he can fix his and my watergun; Brad O., all the speakers I have; Kevin Dube, all the Mon Copain memories; Mr. Staple's radiator, and a step-by-step "How to Get a Girl" book; Chad Morneault, all the memories of good parties; Karen, my truck so she can learn how to drive standard and all my love.

I, Scott Cyr, leave: Andy, a lifetime supply of mold and mildew remover; Eric, a package of donuts; Jeremy, all my leftover notebooks; Jessie, a Celtics jersey so he always remembers who's best; Carrie, a telephone; Tammy, a camera and an L.A. Kings puck; Jesse Pettengill, a good set of tires so he won't get stuck in the mud anymore; the class of '95, all the memories we shared as we grew up together.

I, Jason Dube, leave: Monica Corriveau, my green silk shirt; Miss Perreault, my computer teacher, my winter jacket and a ticket to Florida; Scott Cyr, a lifetime supply of napkins.

I, Kevin Dube, of sound mind leave: Jeff, my waterbed and the wonderful words of "Get out of the car now!"; Scott Corriveau, memories of a rolled up dollar at Mon Copain and a tug of war with Walt's truck, almost going side by side with Carla's house; Randy M., my empty bottles, memories of Mon Copain and 11th avenue, snowbank, the siren; Monica, the night at the movies and memories of melting the snow; my parents, the phone calls from Mr. Bouchard, invitations to school they got, and an extra vacation he gave me.

I, Glen Gagnon leave: Wisdom High School very prepared for college, and I had the greatest time of my life here with my friends and teachers. I also leave: Coach Deschaine, my jumping ability and many sprained ankles; Mr. Boynton, my ability to make four-foot paper airplanes; Mrs. Lerman, my ability to type this will; my classmates, who I enjoyed being with for so long: CLASS OF '95 IS UNBEATABLE!

I, Jennifer Lacourse, leave: Jeremy Dugal, a little yellow rain hat and all my love; Carrie, the twenty-first letter of the alphabet and a lifetime supply of cheese; Amy L., a "free-spirit" ride to Florida and Bruno's allowance; Renae L., a gift certificate to Mary Kay (the one I never used) and the Iroquois tribe to which she belongs; Barbie O., the snowbank on MY side of the driveway and a pair of new glasses; Mel R., pieces of _____'s broken heart and some white-out for your mattress; Eric, Channel 64 and a Soloflex to keep your back muscles cut; my family, all my love forever.

I, Stuart Fongemie, leave: Jeff, my elementary experiences of fighting; Chad M., his "Soubarratte"; Scott Corriveau, the memories of Mrs. Labbe's class near the coat rack; my class, all the memories of ME.

I, Amy Lerman, leave: Carrie, a taillight for pepere's four-wheeler; Jen L., a plane ticket to Florida; Renae, Tequil Sunrise (orange juice); Eric, Chicken pox; Jeremy, a Fat's Domino piano; the basketball team, a season supply of lipgloss and lotion; Jill and Lena, a car to get to school; the class of '95, all our wonderful memories; Craig, ALL MY LOVE!! XXOO

I, Shannon Lugdon, upon graduation, leave: Mrs. Labbe, hugs; Mr. Cyr, No-Doz; Doug, an extra 5 minutes a day; Mom and Dad, the hope that one day your other children are more like me; my siblings, all the enlightening experiences to be had while attending Wisdom; the drama club, my heart; and my soul, to the only person it could ever belong to, M.D.

I, Andy Marquis, leave: anything that anyone wishes to claim.

I, Randy Marquis, of sound body and mind leave: Cory A., all the nights we talked while he was working and his BTO tape; my parents, my empty pockets; Kevin D., the "old blue Chevy" and the snowbank on 11th ave, the still, the siren, and all the night-outs we had in the summer of 1994.

I, Cheryl Michaud, leave: Tracy Corriveau, a "lunch box" and T.O.P.; Maleka Michaud, a cigarette and whoever she likes; my sister, my camping gear and my friendship; my brother, an argument and a lot of fun to go with in life; my parents, all the snow for ski-doo and my love.

I, Melissa Michaud, leave this place with just one regret: that I can't bring Dana with me. So, to him, I leave my love, my heart, all my thoughts, and a few great memories. I also leave: Kristin, Tammy, Candy, Jennie, Amy T., "the Group," and the Drama people my friendship; the B-ball team, your scorebooks; my parents and my sister, my love and thanks; to everybody else.....ha-ha....!

I, Tammy Morneau, leave: my family, all my love; Jesse, all the Barney tapes on Earth; Amy T., a great big hug and lots of stationary; Eric, my Boston Bruins hockey puck; Jessie, my phone number at UMPI; Jen V., a thousand thank-you's for being there for me; Mel R. and Barbie, a lifetime supply of AP Calculus nightmares and two big hugs; Scott and Andy, all of the Beevis and Butthead reruns in the world; Amy L., a coloring contest entry form; Jen L., my Taurus; Mel M., an indestructible car; Carrie, a huge walk-in closet for her 365 outfits; class of '95, all my love and best wishes for the future.

I, Kristin E. S. Olmsted, have the only regret of not being able to take my freinds with me. I leave: Melissa Michaud, my friendship, however strange it may be; Aaron Michaud, my love and devotion; the music students, my trust that the bandroom won't be destroyed; the music bunch, my friendship; Mr. Boynton, my full respect and thanks; my mother, my eternal love, gratitude, and a yardful of dogs.

I, Barbie Ouellette, leave: Tammy, my Calculus book; Carrie-Carrie, a razor to shave it; Jen L., a snowplow so I don't have to push her car all by myself and my children's work-out tape; Amy L., a few inches of my height; Renae, bat repellent; Christy and Mel R., the Border; Tina, the dirt in the back of my pick-up; Jen V., a book on how to be a model democrat; Mr. Rotella, a woman.

I, Christy Pelletier, leave: Jen, the painful memory of being waterlogged and a bigger mailbox; Melisa R., the last french fry and our opera singing skills; Tina, my Columbia jacket and a nicer cat; Barbie, a belching trophy, grinding skills and a map of the Round Point; Karen, lots of ferns; Jill M., The memory of "Ow, my ear!" and the "LIYAH" club; Mel T. and Kim, the smell of beefstew; Mr. Cyr, no such luck! I leave you my brother and sisters!; my family, all my love!

Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein orders his troops to the border of oil-rich Kuwait. The U.S. sends 350 warplanes to the area to support the Kuwaiti forces. By October 11, Hussein orders the withdrawal of most of his forces.

Russian President Boris Yeltsin calls out his poorly trained military to subdue a rebellion in Chechnya, a southern republic the size of Connecticut. Critics accuse Yeltsin of resorting to totalitarian methods of the old communist Soviet regime to keep the shaky Russian Federation unified.

Europe's worst flood in this century kills at least 30 people across Europe. Inland floods caused by melting Alpine snow and relentless rains hit Belgium, France, Germany, and the Netherlands, whose famous dike system begins to crumble late in January 1995 in the face of rampaging rivers. Dutch authorities evacuate 250,000 people from the lowlands.

Camilla Parker Bowles, allegedly Prince Charles' mistress, announces her divorce from her husband, Andrew Parker Bowles. Princess Diana is said to be negotiating a divorce from Charles, who will be free to remarry without giving up the throne—unless unhappy subjects force a referendum on the monarchy.

More than 900 passengers die, 140 are rescued when the Estonia, a 15,500-ton Baltic ferry sinks off the coast of Finland in a violent nighttime storm. The storm's 30-foot waves swamp the ship which lists and sinks in a matter of minutes.

Class Of 1996

"Follow Through..."

The Junior Class has been through many things this year. Most of us have our licenses and a car by now, along with the job to pay for it. Now we have more responsibilities, and it will take some getting used to. We've all changed throughout the year in our own little ways, some for the better, and some for the worse. We still have work to do to bond as a class, but you just wait, we'll be back and better than ever next year!
