Throughout the years at Wisdom Middle High School we, the Class of 2011, have learned lessons, made memories and shared fun and laughter. These are all things that will stick with us for the rest of our lives. We all were put together for the first time in 7th grade and some of us were soon known as the kids who would always cause mischief. We were diverse. Hicks, nerds, teachers' pets, and misfits were the major classifications and no matter how different we were, we came to grow together in our high school years. Our class was always known as the class who tended to be more rebellious than the rest. Some memorable moments were: Mr. Woodward's classes, fighting in the lunchroom over a seat at a table, Mr. Textor "smashing his finger" into a million pieces with liquid nitrogen, working on our snow sculptures and working as an actual team during Winter Wellness. Also, popping chip bags in the lunchroom, always chatting on First Class email in middle school because that was the only way to chat with our friends, having a snowball fight to represent the Civil War in Mr. Balerstein's world history class, and sophomore English.

enough said. Everyone constantly quoting movies or saying, "That's what she said." Remember taping Mr. Woodward to the wall, dunking Ms. Leblanc in the dunk tank, the time someone "unexpectedly" fell through the ceiling in the boys locker room, and the hot dog that sat in the back of the bookshelf in the French room for who knows how long? How about always having to be tortured by the delicious smells of baked goods coming out of the resource room while we had to sit in class and do work. And we will never forget the students that came and left: Maria Cleland, Robert Surrency, Matt Jenks, Jakob Tardiff, Staci Guernette, Ashley Ouellette, Ariel Copp, Michael Deschaine, John-Michael Fongemie, and Reuban Peletier. We could go on forever with things we've done together as a class, but one thing we should always know is that we are the Class of 2011, and we have lived up to our potentials. No matter what we did, we're all good kids at heart. So, see you all in ten, twenty, and so on years.

When We Were Kids

"I wanna go back to when we played as kids, but things change, and that's the way it is." -Tupac Shakur

When we were young, most of us were taught by the most wonderful, Mrs. T.O. We will greatly miss the days playing in the pre-k loft, building with blocks, having snack time, and just simply playing all day. We will remember all of the field trips we took together to the pumpkin patches and to the Quebec Zoo in 6th grade. We won't ever forget the time a majority of the class came home sick from Camp Roosevelt...what a disaster! All in all, we won't ever forget each other. Childhood friends make the best memories.

Left: Nicole Coulombe, Kody Chamberland, Curtis Picard, Rocky Chamberland, & Dustin Guerrette. Curtis was the tallest, not much has changed. Below: An early class photograph.

Even though we all had our differences, we managed to become friends over the last 13 years.

"If I could do it again you know I'd do it the same"

-Kurtis

-Devin

"Keep your grades up so you can get good scholarships."

-CJ

"Antagonize Ms. Daigle. Print creepy messages to her printer, get her off topic, laugh at the silly things she says. It's a blast! But do your work on time."

EARLY CHILDHOOD

Teacher: Mrs. Pamela Caron

Students: Anunda Lagasse (seen left), Haley Bernier, Heather Hebert, & Ashley Beaulieu

Every once in a while, parents bring their children into the tech center for "123 Playgroup" and the students play with the children and teach them fundamentals. If you love kids, you will love Early Childhood.

COMPUTER TECH

THE LIFE OF A MIDDLE SCHOOLER

Going to a new school is a big transition, especially being in the same school as the rest of the high-schoolers. Middle schoolers face doing new things like Camp Kieve, switching classrooms every 80 minutes, rushing to make it to class on time, having multiple teachers, harder tests, and more responsibilities. Even though there's only 3 primary teachers, it is a little taste of high school. Whether you're in 7th grade or 8th grade, everyone is looking forward to the middle school graduation dance at the end of the year.

Every middle schooler is looking forward to the next 4 years of their life; high school.

Candid- informal; unposed: a candid photo. These are the moments students are not paying attention, the time's they are absorbed in their own world, an we were determined to get them at their best, worst, and funniest.

The class watches on, hoping for their victory.

The girls work hard on their bridges, determined to win.

quarter to meet and discuss healthy food choices, share recipes, and actually prepare a healthy meal to eat together. Members bring Tupperware dishes to take leftovers home, and choose the theme for upcoming meetings (breakfast, Italian, Mexican, etc...). The club focuses on healthy choice meals and even how to transform "favorites" to "healthy favorites" knowing that eating healthy equals feeling good. The goal of the group is to learn healthy habits and improve overall health and to make pre-packaged food occasional; not the norm. The group also demonstrates how cooking healthy meals can be a family fun activity all the while incorporating healthy habits to our children that last a lifetime.

Snow Sculpture Creation

This year we were worried about our snow sculptures since it had barely snowed up until the day we started. Our snow banks were measely little things filled with chunks of ice. Yet the occasion was saved at the last minute. While the temperatures were frigid, students pushed on, intent on having the best sculpture around. However, the last day threatened to melt our sculptures before they were judged.

Winter Wellness

Winter Wellness was not just about fun activities this year. The Can-Am Sled Dog Races were being set up in the meantime. The parking lot was filled with dogs and owners, all getting ready for a good race. Students got to go look at the dogs and talk to the owners a bit. One dog even tried to steal a student's hat!

This year, our Winter Wellness day had to be postponed until after February break due to the weather. However, the make-up day could not have been better. It was chilly but beautiful out and most everyone was in high spirits. Kids and teachers alike enjoyed skiing, sledding, snow shoeing, skating, (falling), and chowing down.

Aww! C.J. and Timmy are spendin' some quality bro time on the slopes!

Living in such a relaxed and rural area, we are able to do things that other city kids would not think of doing. For instance, getting new snowmobiles and sledding all winter or shooting their very own deer or moose. When we are out of school these are the things we like to do.

Whether we are spending time outdoors or just chilling with some friends, we like to have fun. :)

Prom 2011:
"Club Can't Handle Us"

Prom 2010 was plagued with worry about poor weather, messy dinners, killer heels, suffocating tuxes, and constricting dresses, yet the show went on wonderfully. It was a beautiful night full of laughter, dancing, games, and romance. No one ripped their pants this year, almost all the guys took their shirts off (to the ladies' delight), and the prom servers even got into the spirit by dressing up in togas (though not by choice).

The Varsity Boys Baseball team of 2010 made major accomplishments. The season was packed with adrenaline, intensity, and dedication. Because the boys were so passionate about the sport as individuals and as a team they made it to the playoffs, positioning on top of the charts. They played their hearts out and it was tied for almost the entire game until Southern Aroostook was lucky enough to snatch a point. Next year will be bigger and better.

Luckily, the softball team isn't losing many seniors but they will be missed! However, the girls can still recover with upcoming freshman and underclassmen!

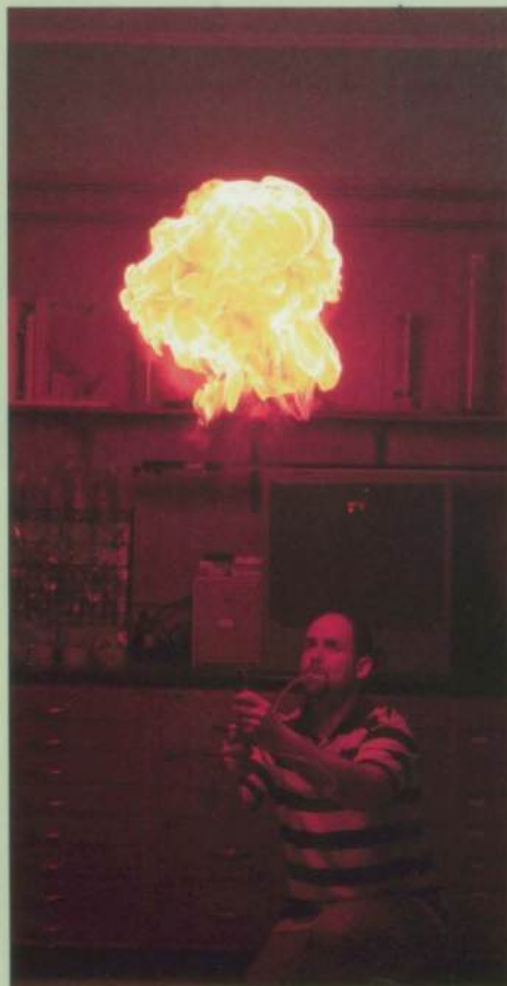

The Varsity Girls Softball team had a rather successful 2010 season. Through obtaining a total of 6 wins they proved that they were not going to allow anyone to stop them. Because of these wins, they were eligible for Prelims versus Deer Isle. However, they did not pull through in the playoffs but they worked their hardest, that's for sure! Hopefully the 2011 season will be just as good!
