

FIVE
WAYS TO

Party better

We always encourage our members to take a greener path when planning and producing events, and with the market now filled with amazing ideas and more sustainable options, it couldn't be easier to adjust your mindset from disposable to reusable.

Here's our 5 tips on how to host a more environmentally party that all ages will enjoy.

- Reduce party waste by dispensing with plastic cups, plates, and forks and instead use real plates, cups, and cutlery. Melamine plates are a great option and are easy to clean and reuse.
- Always dispose of your balloons properly. Each balloon should at least be popped with a pin and placed in the bin or better still recycled. Don't forget latex balloons are biodegradable, so can easily be composted.
- If you want to give your guests traditional paper invites, opt for ones made from recycled paper. You can also buy, seeded paper invites, which when planted, grow into stunning wildflowers.
- If you want to decorate your tables with something colourful, biodegradable confetti made from tissue paper is a lovely option.
- When it comes to party bags, why not opt for paper bags that can easily be recycled, or tote bags personalised with each of your guest's names.

Choose to be environmentally-aware,
choose a NABAS member

