

How to reduce party balloon waste

Refill foil balloons

It may be tricky at first, but if you're careful, foil balloons can be refilled multiple times. So, at the end of your event, instead of disposing of them, just let out the air or helium and store them away for next time. It's also important when using foil balloons that you make sure to weight each individual balloon properly, so that they can't slip away.

Repurpose balloons

Balloons once they have reached the end of their life can be repurposed and reworked beyond their original use in a number of creative and exciting ways, from artwork to gift wrap, to props for a photo shoot.

Dispose of balloons properly

Don't let post event tiredness get in the way of disposing of your balloons properly. Each balloon should at least be popped with a pin and placed in the bin or better still recycled. Don't forget latex balloons are biodegradable so can be composted.

Choose to be environmentally-aware,
choose a NABAS member