This week, we welcomed Ekko to our group! Yeay!

With the holidays approaching, I wanted to give a quick schedule update!

My family is spread out across the U.S., and with mid-week holidays this year, I'll be taking a few trips to see them. I appreciate your patience during this busy season. All class schedules are updated, so if a class is off the schedule, you won't be charged. If your student needs to miss a class, please let me know in advance. Pausing your week could impact your spot, so reach out, and I'll work with you. Thank you for your flexibility, and I look forward to celebrating this joyful season with you all!
