

SGA Celebrates Spirit Week

From December 9-13, Saint George Academy (SGA) students and faculty celebrated Spirit Week, a new SGA tradition that serves to create positive school spirit and gives student the opportunity to express their creativity.

The week began with “Twin Day” during which students dressed as twins with their friends or members of the faculty. The culminated with the official lighting of the school Christmas tree.

Students pose near the Christmas tree

On the following day students and teachers enjoyed the very comfortable “PJ Day” where everyone attended class in their coziest pajamas and slippers.

Seniors pose with their History teacher for Decades Day

The next day students and members of the faculty dressed up for “Decades Day” in the style of their favorite decade. Costumes ranged from the 1920s-2000s. This day was also “Teacher Appreciation Day” during which students delivered heartwarming letters and gifts to their teachers in appreciation for their work.

Mr. Stasiw addresses the students during Spirit Week

The following day was “International Cuisine Day” where students enjoyed foods from their native countries. Students cooked up a storm of mouthwatering international dishes. Principal Andrij Stasiw also catered everyone’s favorite – pyrohy. On this day the 11th grade also held a fashion show of some of their inventive and creative costumes – all made out of newspaper – during the Art Class with Ms. Irene Saviano.

Students prepare for their fashion show

The week culminated in a Spirit Week Award ceremony for those who showed the most spirit and creativity in their costumes.

Students and faculty greatly enjoyed the fun and creative themes of the week.

Photos courtesy SGA News Association