

August Amour

A Late Summer Romance Blog Series

By Karlene Pitters

A warm and heartfelt 4-part blog series exploring love in all its summer forms—from golden-hour dates to unexpected connections, and how to carry that spark into the changing seasons.

Week 1: Golden Hour Kisses – Late Summer Date Ideas

This post explored romantic date ideas perfect for August—sunset picnics, stargazing, beach bonfires, and spontaneous adventures. It came with a free printable: the Late Summer Romance Bucket List, inspiring couples to make the most of the season's magic.

Week 2: The Summer That Changed Everything – A Short Love Story

A heartwarming fictional story about Nia, a wedding photographer who finds unexpected love with Mason during a summer trip to Charleston. A simple act of kindness turns into something unforgettable in this sweet romance that celebrates spontaneity and emotional growth.

Week 3: From Fling to Forever – Can Summer Love Last?

A reflection on whether summer love can grow into a lasting relationship. Readers are encouraged to notice the signs of deeper connection, transition from seasonal passion to real-life romance, and explore how love can evolve beyond August heat.

Week 4: Back to Love – Rekindling Romance Before Fall

The series wraps with a reminder to turn toward love before fall arrives. With thoughtful ideas like recreating summer memories, writing love notes, and creating a couple's fall bucket list, this post focuses on reconnecting with what matters most.

Thank you for joining me this August. May the love you discovered or rekindled this summer carry you into every season that follows.

With love,

Karlene Pitters

www.jamericandream.com