Welcome Note

Thank you for being here with me this spring—and for being part of the Books By Karlene family. Whether you've been with me from the start or just joined, I'm thrilled to share this journey of love, renewal, and storytelling with you.

Spring Fling: Romance in the Air

There's something about spring—the sun lingers a little longer, the flowers start to bloom, and suddenly, anything feels possible... especially falling in love.

Second Chances & Fresh Starts

Spring is a season of renewal—flowers bloom, the air warms, and the world feels brand new.

Rainy Day Reads & Cozy Love

April showers may keep us indoors, but for romance lovers, that's just another reason to cozy up with a heartwarming story.

Blooming Romance: Love That Grows

Some love stories take their time—just like flowers, they bloom slowly and beautifully.
