How Does It Work?

The OXYGENEO facial offers three primary steps to beautify your skin: exfoliation, oxygenation, and infusion.

Exfoliate – The OXYGENEO treatment starts with exfoliation to gently remove the dead skin cells from the upper layer, make the skin smooth, clean clogged pores, and renew your skin. It generates CO2 bubbles in high amounts to trigger Bohr Effect, which is a physiological response by the topmost skin layer.

Oxygenate – The Bohr Effect is an oxygenation process for your skin. When it is triggered, O2-rich blood is sent to your skin, and it replaces the CO2. Through this process, the OXYGENEO treatment oxygenates your skin from within, improving cellular activity.

Infuse – Along with oxygenation, OXYGENEO facial also infuses vitamins, nutrients, and other active ingredients. These ingredients not only make your skin healthier and well-nourished but they also make the skin tone smoother.

What Does The OXYGENEO Treatment Consist Of?

The OXYGENEO facial involves five different treatments, which have been developed keeping in mind a variety of skincare requirements. These five treatments offer a comprehensive approach to ensure that your skin is made healthy, youthful, and bright.

It also uses OXYPOD, which is a product required to efficiently and effectively offer your skin the benefits of active ingredients. These ingredients are available in the OXYPODs in dormant states. The product does not include any preservatives, chemicals, or dyes either. The OXYPOD ingredients only become active when the treatment starts, ensuring freshness, safety, best performance, and longer-lasting effect.
