Why Lord

A believer suffered a loss they couldn't explain and began to exclaim:

WHY LORD!

Do we have to endure a life so unsure and brief?

WHY LORD!

Do you let children die causing unbelief and grief?

WHY LORD!

Did you ever unchain the gates of the kingdom where evil does reign?

WHY LORD!

Must I suffer the enemies' arrows that aim at my body and brain?

Then, the Lord heard their cries by Psalm 34 (34:4,6-), and The Comforter came to relieve them of pain and explain.

The comfort and warmth of the spirit consoled them.

Ministered to and internally told them:

"The time you are here is just part of a lesson.

After testing your faith, The Lord allows your progression.

How can there be a testimony if there's no test?

And overcoming a challenge shows you know that you've been blessed.

Once you've done well and good and have fulfilled your fate,

Your loved-ones should celebrate as they watch you graduate.

The time you spent in life was a gift from The Creator,

To get to know the face of your Maker before returning to Him later.

But for those you leave upon this world, to carry your memory on,

It doesn't feel like graduation, they need consolation because all they now know is you're 'gone'.

Though you can rest assured in time I'll comfort them, as I have you

And I'll renew their point-of-view, and redefine all you've been through.

So when they think of you from now on there'll be less tears.

They'll smile a while and reflect on what you've said throughout the years;

And they too will graduate from saying, "WHY LORD did you take them from ME!?",

To saying, "Why Lord, to have had them this long was a gift...."

"But I'm glad they're now free!"
