“HISTORIC OLD SAINT LUKE’S CHURCH”

330 Old Washington Pike, Carnegie, PA 15106

A historic structure built in 1765 as an Episcopal Church, St. Luke’s is still used for weddings and baptisms today. Many Revolutionary and French & Indian war heroes and early settlers were laid to rest in its cemetery. If you are an American and Local History Buff or would like to learn about people who preceded us here in Western Pa, you will really enjoy this tour presented by our very own Nancy and David Davies.
