

EFM: Together, We Can Do Hard Things

Our Mission

It was once believed that the signs and symptoms of gynecological cancers were silent. We now understand—they whisper. Every five minutes, a woman is diagnosed with a gynecological cancer — cervical, ovarian, uterine, vaginal or vulvar. Too many of these cancers remain overlooked, underfunded and without reliable screening tools.

Our mission is to address the gap in women's healthcare by advancing education, awareness, and research in gynecological cancers — ensuring that fewer women are diagnosed too late and that every woman has access to better knowledge, better support and early detection.

“Awareness is Power. Early Detection is Life”