

About the Company

Carlisle Health is a Radiology business composed of 22 clinics spread across a vast expanse, stretching from Rockhampton to Wollongong, covering over 1,500km. In just one calendar year, our growth has been exponential, projecting us from 8 clinics to a network of 22.

This expansion highlights our unwavering commitment to expanding our reach and influence within the broader radiology community, all in pursuit of our mission to innovate and redefine the Radiology landscape.

We have approximately 390 employees across the sites and in head office support roles.

Carlisle Health provides a governance structure that ensures all practices under its umbrella adhere to the DIAS (Diagnostic Imaging Accreditation Scheme) standard requirements. This governance framework includes oversight of staff qualifications, equipment standards, policies, and operational procedures, with a focus on meeting the minimum requirements and striving for a "best practice and better" standard.

While individual clinics are responsible for managing their day-to-day operations, including addressing Radiologist-specific needs and concerns, they are supported by the overarching governance structure in areas as and when they need support. This support ensures that any gaps or uncertainties in clinical or operational practices are addressed promptly, allowing for continuous improvement and alignment with both regulatory standards and clinical excellence.

By balancing the flexibility needed for individual clinic operations with the strength of centralised tasks, Carlisle Health has an environment of both compliance and continuous enhancement in diagnostic imaging practices.
