

CBC Partner $25,000 Sponsorship

Thank you for your support of California's biomanufacturing community. As you know, hundreds of leading companies around the world are working on scaling up treatments, cures, food, energy, and sustainable products thanks to advanced bioprocessing. Your membership supports a vibrant community of companies, schools and colleges, community organizations, and services dedicated to the continued success of our industry. CBC is a 501(c)(3) organization and all of your support goes to activities that advance industry and workforce development initiatives in our community.

Partner Benefits*

- Partner to be listed on CBC website
- Partner to be identified in all marketing materials
- Partner marketing material to be available at CBC offices
- CBC to provide dedicated promotion on mutually agreed basis
- CBC team to support lead generation
- Partner to be invited to provide content, recommendations, promotional materials, or other mutually agreed materials for incubator and test bed clientele.
- Partner to be identified in all recurring event series
- Partner to be identified in all annual events
- Partner to be identified in all receptions
- Partner to be invited as select participant in CBC special interest groups where appropriate
- Partner to be identified in all student competitions and challenges (scholarships and internships NOT included, under separate, restricted funding)
- Partner to be invited to host selected meetings as appropriate.

**CBC and Partners agree to jointly execute all elements of these Partnerships based on mutual consent. The frequency of these benefits may evolve over time as more Partners commit to CBC. These promotional agreements will continue to be available, though rotation and frequency may evolve based on availability. CBC cannot guarantee exclusivity.*

To express interest, please contact: Missy Fox, Program Manager. Email: mfox@biomanufacturing.us

