Policy Subcommittee OVERVIEW

Motion to REFER:

Simple majority required. Is debatable. Sometimes the committee does not have enough information to make an immediate decision on a main motion. Such motions can be removed from the debate and sent to either a standing subcommittee or an adhoc committee for further study. This can be done by a member saying, "I move to refer the motion to the such-and-such subcommittee". If the motion to refer is seconded, the body may debate it before voting. If the motion to refer passes, the committee moves on to its next item of business. If the motion to refer does not pass, the committee either continues debating the main motion or vote on it.

The subcommittee to which a motion is referred will take it up at its next meeting. The subcommittee will report back on what it has come up with at the next meeting of the full committee
