Board Member Biography

Allen "Al" Di Donato

Allen ("Al") Di Donato is a highly respected architect based in San Diego, California, with a distinguished career in designing and managing large-scale projects that have left a lasting visual and structural impact on the city. His work has contributed to shaping the architectural landscape, ensuring functional, aesthetically pleasing, and sustainable designs that serve both businesses and communities.

As a senior and a long-time client of Aero IT, Inc., Al has firsthand experience with the evolving technological challenges that seniors face in both professional and personal settings. His deep understanding of project management, problem-solving, and forward-thinking design allows him to bring a unique and valuable perspective to IT Advocates.

Al is passionate about ensuring that seniors are supported as technology continues to advance. He recognizes that while architecture builds the physical world around us, access to technology is what keeps people connected, informed, and empowered. As a board member of IT Advocates, Al is committed to helping create strong support systems that enable seniors to navigate the digital age with confidence, ensuring they have the tools and resources to thrive in an increasingly tech-driven society.
