Carolyn Davee

Carolyn Davee is a dedicated community leader and philanthropist with a lifelong commitment to supporting meaningful causes. She attended San Diego State University (SDSU) from 1955 to 1958 before completing her senior year at UCLA, where she relocated after marrying her husband, Jerry Davee, while he attended UCLA Law School.

Carolyn has been deeply involved in community service and philanthropy for decades. For over 40 years, she has been an advocate for burn survivors through her work with the Burn Institute, not only as a donor but also as President of the Auxiliary. She and Jerry established an Endowment Fund to support both adult and child burn survivors, including funding for Camp Beyond the Scars, a program designed to help young burn survivors heal and build confidence.

As a senior, Carolyn understands firsthand the challenges that older adults face in navigating today's digital world. Her deep-rooted commitment to service aligns with the mission of IT Advocates, where she brings valuable insights into how technology can be used to empower and support seniors. Carolyn's experience in philanthropy, community engagement, and advocacy makes her an invaluable member of the IT Advocates board, helping to shape strategies that ensure seniors receive the resources and support they need to stay connected and confident in the modern world.
