

Florida A&M University's WAMN-FM 90.5 Annual Mixathon

TALLAHASSEE, Fl Oct.29th-30th,2021- WAMN 90.5, the student-run radio station at Florida A&M University, held their annual homecoming mixathon. The two-day event was fun for all who attended, where current station DJs and returning alumni DJs took over the airwaves hosted by current student DJ, DJ Zoe Crazy.

The event occurred at the 90.5 station inside the School of Journalism and Graphic Design at FAMU. The first DJ up Mix at 1 pm was DJ MT, a 2016 FAMU alum. Each DJ has an hour time slot to mix with DJ Zoe Crazy on the mic during intermissions. Next was DJ Venom, a 2006 alum who played popular songs during his time on the hill. The event held up to its purpose to promote the radio station by bringing back alumni DJs with their following to Mix live. The event also provides a different flair of music selection for homecoming listeners from bygone years.

“We had Alumni DJs from different eras of FAMU coming back, and many alumni in town for homecoming called in with a request for popular songs from their day. The music brought back memories, a good way to let them hear the sound track of their time at FAMU.” Terrance Ward, General Manager of 90.5, had to say about the event.
