Section 1. Introducing Our CSA Farm

Becoming a part of Beautiful Edibles Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) is a relationship between our farms and you as our customer. Rather than simply purchasing food, our customers become “members” of this CSA farm who receive a portion of the farm’s harvest.

Our CSA runs for 20 weeks, from May to October. Members are responsible for designating a location for pickup or contact free delivery either at a home or place of business. You have the option to pick up at either of our farms in Newburgh or Downtown. Cool items in your order will be kept refrigerated until you arrive for pickup. You will receive items in a box or paper bag, not an insulated bag. Please notify us as soon as possible if the delivery location needs to be changed or if you are unable to accept delivery on your assigned day of Tuesday or Thursday between 11 AM and 4 PM. You are responsible for proper handling of the delivery by placing frozen or cool items into refrigeration promptly. . You will generally receive one insulated grocery bag of 5-7 varieties of vegetables, fruits or herbs with generally more during peak season. Add-on Shares will be packed separately as needed. Detailed information regarding delivery is discussed below in Section 3. Variety and quantity may vary as described below in Section 2.

Section 1. Introducing Our CSA Farm, Continued

Our Growing Practices - Beautiful Edibles uses Organic growing methods and is transitioning to Regenerative Agriculture. Regenerative is a conservation and rehabilitation approach to food and farming systems. It focuses on topsoil regeneration, increasing biodiversity, improving the water cycle, enhancing ecosystem services, supporting biosequestration, increasing resilience to climate change, and strengthening the health and vitality of farm soil. Practices include recycling as much farm waste as possible and adding composted material from sources outside the farm. Produce is grown without using specific conventional pesticides, fertilizers made with synthetic ingredients or sewage sludge, bioengineering, or ionizing radiation. For more information about organic or regenerative production methods please ask. We’d be happy to tell you more. Our farm is not Certified Organic.

Section 2. Our Shared Commitments

A. Sharing in the Risk of Crop Failure

We promise to do our best to provide you with a bountiful share each week. The quantity of produce, however, may vary from week-to-week/month-to-month/season-to-season due to extreme weather, insects, or other production factors despite our best efforts. By joining our CSA, you are agreeing to share the risk of crop failure with us and other members. In the unlikely event of a crop failure, our procedure is as follows: If only a small portion of crops fail, we compensate for the failed crops by filling your share with other crops grown on the farm that are ready for harvest at that time. If a large portion of crops fail, we may not be able to deliver any product in some weeks. We may cover for a crop loss by buying in from other local farmers generally/other farms with the same certifications as our farm. This may not be a feasible option for all crops because of cost or widespread failure.

B. Sharing in the Reward of Crop Surplus

In addition to our CSA, our farms sell to restaurants, grocery stores, online markets and direct to consumers. We segregate our production for the CSA by allocating separate plantings and certain fields to the CSA. When production of our CSA segregated crops are especially abundant, we pack as much as possible into your share. However, we don't want to overwhelm our members or deliver so much produce that it goes to waste. When we feel that members have received enough of certain crops, we handle the surplus by selling it through our other outlets. Please note that we produce some items exclusively for our other outlets. You may see our products at other outlets that you will not receive in your CSA share. We may experiment with new varieties of vegetables, fruits, herbs, or flowers so that we can increase diversity. These crops will be distributed as equitably as possible but all members of the CSA may not receive all items or CSA members will receive a small sample of these varieties. We balance the priority of the CSA with our other markets. This allows us to select a consistently full and diverse share to our customers while avoiding over-delivering any one product.
