BULLSEYE BULLDOGS presumes that two live puppies born is considered a litter.

BULLSEYE BULLDOGS nor the sire to the litter is responsible for the number of eggs produced by the female. Should the female in the breeding not take on the first breeding, BULLSEYE BULLDOGS requires written documentation from a licensed veterinarian to include an ultrasound with the females' microchip number. Upon receipt of this information from the veterinarian, BULLSEYE BULLDOGS will provide one breeding for repeat, but shipping is again at buyer's expense. If the breeding does not take for a second time, there will be no more available rebreeds and the sire owner no longer owes anything pertaining to the items listed in this contract. Dam owner agrees to use semen in one insemination.

BULLSEYE BULLDOGS presumes that dam owner will notify once heat cycle has begun. This is including but not limited to the first signs of swelling. BULLSEYE BULLDOGS is not responsible for lack of organization skills and last-minute planning. If we are not notified within a minimum of 24 hours prior to shipping, a $500.00 (emergency rushed) fee will be applied.

Should said litter be born with cleft palates or deformities are present in the litter, this again is not qualified reasoning for a repeat breeding as many of these can take place due to lack of proper prenatal care.
