Our Team

Marcus Armenta - Principle

Marcus's has worked in the marine industry for nearly 30 years and his experience includes a successful U.S. Coast Guard (USCG) career as a senior Engineer. Marcus held Instructor positions teaching at the USCG Engineering School, and the USCG Small Boat Operations School where he taught engineering, boat crew seamanship and small boat operation; and he was a member of the fleet standardization inspection team. He has also mentored and taught junior Engineers and crewmembers in multiple positions he held.

During his career in the USCG Marcus spent nearly five years aboard 270' (82m) and 378' (115m) ships as an engineer including qualifying as Engineering Officer of the Watch. In addition to his shipboard experience Marcus has maintained, repaired and operated boats up to 50'(15m); and managed multiple vessel maintenance and repair programs including systems refits, new build equipment installations, ship yard refit work, and major repairs or overhauls for vessels from 41' (12.5m) up to 378' (115m). The most recent large project Marcus was involved with was the conversion of an offshore support vessel into a 292' (89m) Exploration Yacht.

Marcus has held multiple senior business leadership roles with responsibility for safety & security programs, operations, shore side equipment maintenance and repair programs, marina and terminal renovation & repair projects, and employee training programs.

Michelle Armenta - Principle

Michelle's experience includes the maintenance, repair, and renovation of residential properties and commercial facilities, grounds, and landscaping. Michelle has completed renovations and repairs of multiple personal homes, built an "off-the-grid" home from the ground up, and volunteered with Habitat for Humanity and Rebuilding America participating in various segments of new home construction and the renovations of existing homes.

Michelle's has spent several years boating, maintaining vessels, and working in the marine industry. In addition, Michelle has an extensive background managing sales programs and business operations in 10 offices, and in customer service, project management, and contract management in multiple industries.

Together we have over 50 years of combined experience owning, maintaining, operating, and living on boats.

We understand the need for having someone local, and dependable, to assist with the care and management of these investments. We take our clients trust seriously, and we will not have anyone work on a clients boat or yacht that we would not have work on our own!
