

- Maternity Sessions -

In order to provide our expectant mothers with a nurturing, low-stress environment that is conducive to their health, the health of the baby, and sets a platform for the type of maternity photos desired, our in-studio sessions may be scheduled for up to 2.5 hr time blocks. Typically, the photography aspect consumes about 1.5 hours of this time, while scheduling allows for appropriate breaks, wardrobe changes, and can accommodate the potential for less fluid movement than our traditional hourly session. These sessions may include a pregnant mother alone or with a partner/spouse/supportive adult companion or parent. For on-location sessions, please contact us directly to discuss what you have in mind for location, accessibility for wardrobe changes if needed, and variability in environment that we may need to account for in order to accurately establish time and pricing.
