MOA Deadline
15th
September - May

From the President's desk...

Summer is (almost) over and I'm gearing up for another guild year. Only this time I'm not only the MOA editor, I'm also your president!

What sounded like a good idea earlier this year feels a bit overwhelming at the moment to be honest. How awkward am I going to feel in front of the membership at the general meetings? Will I be able to handle challenges brought forth at board meetings? Will my monthly column be at least somewhat entertaining? How much time is all this going to take out of my life?

Some of these fears may sound silly, but many of you will agree that whenever we step out of our comfort zone into something new and unfamiliar, there will be a tendency to focus on what could go wrong. The thing though is, it will be all right. It might take me a bit to get used to things, I might forget the order of things during a meeting (and leave the printed agenda at home), and a newsletter might be late, but I know it will be fine. And I'm sure we'll have a good laugh or two along the way.

Groups like our guild can only be sustained by the continuous effort of volunteers like the board - and all of you who have and will demonstrate or otherwise help out. And every once in a while it is necessary for some of you to take the plunge and step up to a new level of commitment.

As the guild year commences, please take a look at our officers and consider yourself in their position. We are not in any way more talented or organized than you - we are just challenging ourselves for two years to do some tasks we wouldn't normally do, so that our guild can offer you interesting programs, workshops, study groups, you name it. You would be able to do the same or better if you tried. And you might also enjoy some of these tasks once you have become familiar with what it is all about. If you have any questions regarding the responsibilities of individual offices, please ask, don't wait for a nominating committee to come around.

Now that you are reading this newsletter we are ready to roll on into the 2016/17 season. Pauline has some great speakers lined up for us and there are a few workshops coming up. If you have suggestions for a program or speaker, please let me know. I'm only an email away.

See you at the meeting!

Caroline

REMEMBERING SHIRLEY MILLSAP

Shirley was president of the Arizona Desert Weavers and Spinners Guild from 1978 to 1979.

Shirley and her husband Mel Millsap are responsible for creating the guild logo and pin. Early 1978 Shirley brought it before the board and in Sept 1979 the first guild pins were sold to members. The president pin, which is a little larger, is given as a gift to the outgoing president.

At one time we had guild stationary with the guild logo for legal use, then Shirley had note pads made up with the guild name and logo as a fund raiser. Recently we had a batch of aprons made with the sheep logo and there are plans for a t-shirt with the guild name and logo.

The pins (and pendants) are still for sale through Elaine Rowles.

WEAR YOUR PINS WITH PRIDE!

THANK YOU, SHIRLEY AND MEL

ADWSG Jewelry

Silver logo pins and earrings are available for purchase at the monthly meetings. The "sheep with the woven coat" pins are $20, and earrings are $40. See Elaine Rowles for availability.

A WEAVING SUMMER

What a Weaving Summer I've had! June was Complex Weavers in St. Charles, IL, my first time. I attended some very inspiring seminars, Alice Schlein, Sara von Tresckow, Dianne Totten, Sally Eyring, and Sara Nordling. I left each seminar with my head spinning around new techniques and lots of new ideas to research and test. A group tour was organized to view the Complexity 2016 exhibit at the Fine Line Creative Arts Center, it is a beautiful facility and oh what an exquisite exhibit.

Then 8 days at Convergence 2016 in Milwaukee, WI, my second Convergence. After taking Ric Rao's Natural Dye workshop in February, following up with John Marshall's workshop on Natural Pigments was perfect. An action packed 3 days. He showed many beautiful weavings which used a number of techniques but predominately leno weaves.

My next workshop - Kumihimo taught by Jacqui Carey. My first actual workshop on this subject, my prior experience was self taught using Ms. Carey's books. She was kind enough to sign my book too! I picked up some good tips and tricks.

The last workshop was Layered Weaves using WeavePoint software, taught by Jannie Taylor followed by an overview seminar on layered weaves. See the woven box in a box:

After all these terrific workshops, I'm certain my personal study plan this year will be directed around layered weaves (double, triple, quadruple weaves), leno weaves and color! I've already completed a sample ruffle using a layered weave.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT COLOR?

The first color wheel was invented by Sir Isaac Newton. He split white sunlight into red, orange, yellow, green, cyan, and blue beams; then he joined the two ends of the color spectrum together to show the natural progression of colors.

According to color theory, harmonious color combinations use any two colors opposite each other on the color wheel, any three colors equally spaced around the color wheel forming a triangle, or any four colors forming a rectangle (actually, two pairs of colors opposite each other).

The harmonious color combinations are called color schemes – sometimes the term 'color harmonies' is also used. Color schemes remain harmonious regardless of the rotation angle. (Wheel image from: color-wheel-pro.com)

Value - Value is the lightness or darkness of a color. It is the amount of white or black interpreted in the color.

Chroma - Chroma is the saturation, the intensity or purity of the hue. The brightness or dullness of a hue. Whether it appears more grey and dull rather than bold and rich has to do with its chroma.

Primary color - Three hues that cannot be created from any mixture of the other colors, but together they can form all other colors. Red, Yellow and Blue are the three primary colors.

Secondary color - The secondary colors are orange, green and violet and are created by mixing, in equal parts, two of the three primary colors.

Tertiary color - Tertiary colors are red-orange, orange-yellow, yellow-green etc. They are created from mixing, in equal parts, any one primary color with one secondary color.
