70th ANNIVERSARY

Volume 47, Issue 7

From the President's Desk Christine Hunt

CELEBRATING
OUR 70TH YEAR

We received many interesting applications for our Education Grant this year, and I am pleased to announce the selection of our 2019 grant recipient, Claudia Cocco. Claudia is traveling to Norway to study damask weaving on the drawloom and will be sharing her experience with us in a guild presentation in spring 2020. Congratulations Claudia and thank you to everyone who applied.

I encourage each of you to consider how our guild members can help support your fiber arts continuing education. The range of Education Grant proposals we received tells me that our members are curious about traditional processes, fiber arts techniques from across the world and ways to combine techniques in new ways. If there is something you wish to learn, please express that wish to others in our guild. Most likely, we can connect you with another guild member with exactly the knowledge and experience you need to help guide you on your journey. We have a generous community of over 100 guild members to teach, advise, loan tools and materials, encourage and collaborate with you. It's one of the best benefits of belonging to our organization! Remember to take a look at our guild library which is open during our guild meetings – it is full of magazines, books, dvds and other resources about any area of fiber arts that interests you. All can be checked out on loan to study at your leisure. Our guild librarian Beki Welsch has been doing a great job keeping our library up to date with new publications requested by members.

We will hold guild elections at our April meeting for the 2019-20 year. Nominations for offices will be accepted from the floor in April, and we do have a full slate of officers willing to serve if elected.

Our board has approved an annual due increase of $5 for all memberships and will stop offering prorated dues for partial year membership. The new annual dues are $25 for individual membership and $30 for family membership effective June 1, 2019. Everyone who renews their annual membership prior to June 1 can do so at the current (lower) rate. Please plan to see Trish Boone about renewing your annual dues at our April or May guild meeting to save a few dollars.

As many of you know, our guild collaborates with eleven other guilds through the Arizona Federation of Weavers and Spinners, which has its own board of directors, mission and activities. Through the Federation, individual guilds have been able to improve the quality of educational workshops by sharing the cost of bringing top flight instructors from out of state to teach workshops in communities across Arizona. The Federation is looking for individuals willing to serve as President and Secretary for the coming year; if interested please contact Paula Rudnick or Mary Humme as soon as possible. You can find out more about the Federation by visiting this website: <https://www.azfed.org/>

Start putting the finishing touches on your handmade items for our May 2019 guild meeting, where our program will feature show and tell from the interest group challenges and workshops this past year.

See you in April!

Library Acquisitions

This month we have two new titles: Next Steps in Weaving: What You Never Knew You Needed to Know by Pattie Graver and Intermediate Saori Clothing Design edited by Kenzo Jo. As always, I am open to suggestions of titles to purchase. Be sure to check out the books and magazines for sale at each meeting. The Library's only funding comes from the sale of these items.

This just in! Intermediate Saori Clothing Design edited by Kenzo Jo. This book includes patterns requiring very little cutting and templates for necklines and crotches, plus tips for sewing with handwovens.

Will you be going to Intermountain Weavers Conference?

I will be attending the Intermountain Weavers Conference in Durango in July. I plan to stay on campus, probably in a dorm, and am looking for a roommate. Also, if you want to carpool, whether or not you want a roommate, let me know. I will not be taking a loom, but have space for one in my car. If interested, email me at bekown@yahoo.com. Beki Welsch

Maria Conti

I will be showing the DVD "A Weaverly Path" The Tapestry life of Silvia Hayden, during our study group, after our guild meeting.

It is a documentary about Silvia Hayden's creativity and Tapestry life. It runs for 62 minutes.

WORKSHOP NEWS

Ruth Greenspan

Our last workshop of the 2018-19 Guild year was taught by Mary Conti on March 16. Participants created small tapestry looms out of cardboard, warped them, and learned wedge weave. Stand by for show and share at the April and May Guild meetings.

The Workshop coordinators are working on opportunities for workshops in the next two years. Suggestions that came from the Workshop Wish Lists as well as other sources include:

- * Fair Isle knitting with handspun yarn (with or without a spinning option)
- * Silk dyeing and painting
- * Tapestry
- * Various surface design techniques, including fabric collage, reverse appliqué, denim embellishment, and upcycling textiles
- * Sprang
- * Naalbinding
- * Basket weaving
- * Dyeing of all sorts
- * Weaving with linen (with or without a spinning component)

Additionally, Paula Rudnick has offered to teach some one-day classes, including:

- * Viking knitting
- * Making a beaded lizard/gecko/alligator
- * Knitting with wire (knitted bracelet with beads or rocks)

As we research these various options, we will develop some specific proposals and have sign-up sheets at the April and May Guild meetings to help gauge which workshops have sufficient interest to pursue further at this time. Please also continue to send workshop ideas or expressions of interest to Ruth (ruth@spanman.com) or Karen (kastromberg@gmail.com).

MEET YOUR BOARD MEMBERS

Ann Ormiston -- My Happy Obsession

I once was an Accountant, I am now a hand weaver living and weaving at the base of the White Tank Mountains. The desert provides inspiration in its display of countless textures and colors, from delicate flowers on a spiny cactus to brilliant blue skies or orange red sunsets. I love the innumerable birds that stay or migrate through this area. If I could just capture in textiles those lines, shapes and color contrasts their feathers display!

My fascination with weaving began in my childhood with a woolen coverlet my mother wove in high school and subsequently entered for competition in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. It lay on the back of our living room sofa for many years and is now a keepsake.

My first loom was an Ashford 8 shaft table loom, 32" wide. I taught myself to weave using Deborah Chandler's Learning to Weave book. I was still working and didn't have much time to devote to my craft. When I retired and moved to Arizona in 2009 and my weaving took off! I purchased an 8 shaft 45" Schacht Floor loom, joined ADWSG in 2010 and took my FIRST weaving workshop at this Guild! I was introduced to Spinning and Tapestry at The Fiber Factory workshops. I bought a spinning wheel and a tapestry loom (or four). I added kumihimo to my skill set (and 2 marudai stands). A good friend introduced me to the wonders of an AVL compu dobby loom, I took a workshop at AVL in Chico, CA and I'm in love my 40 shaft AVL V Series loom. I also re-homed another friends Gilmore floor loom with a double back beam. I have woven a few small tapestries and I enjoy imagery in textiles, which led me to investigate jacquard and draw looms. During the weaving conferences in Reno last summer, I attended several workshops and spoke to vendors about these types of looms. This January I finally made the decision to add a 59" Gilmakra countermarch draw loom to my collection. My learning curve may be a bit slower on the draw loom but it's an exciting adventure and I have lots of ideas!

I enjoy the challenge of designing projects, experimenting with various weave structures, fibers and textures. I like to create using traditional skills, at times with manual treadle looms and other times combined with computer assisted technology to create unique textiles. Most of my work is woven using fine silk or fine cotton, but I am ever looking for other fibers that will contribute interesting surface textures and patterns.

Each project entails research and study in the design phase, physical effort to wind, warp and thread the loom then testing and adjusting the design after weaving samples.

I find tranquility in the rhythmic, repetitive nature of weaving. I watch the patterns, textures and colors develop on the cloth and my thoughts begin to think of the next design, colors and fibers I might use.

I am a member of the Arizona Desert Weavers and Spinners Guild, Telarana Fiber Arts Guild, Complex Weavers Guild, Handweavers Guild of America and American Tapestry Alliance.

I have attended numerous workshops sponsored by ADWSG and Telarana. I've also attended 3 Handweavers Guild Convergences and 2 Complex Weavers Conferences. If you love textiles and fiber as I do, both events should be high on your list of "must attend".

Happy Weaving!

WONDERFUL WEAVERS STUDY GROUP

Ann Ormiston

Several of our Guild Weavers have suggested we re-establish the Wonderful Weavers Study Group. Are you interested? It would be a group dedicated to weaving – from beginners to intermediate to advanced. We all have something to offer each other. We have thought a Saturday morning would be a good time, but we're open to suggestions. We need a meeting place, if anyone has a community room available it would be very helpful. Although, we can work around a fixed meeting place until we know how many people are interested. Our Guild's 75th Anniversary is approaching, and this would be a great way to begin brainstorming weaving projects. This would also be a great way to help each of us advance our weaving skills. Several of us are full timers here, so we can meet through the summer months also. I will place an interest list at the membership table for the April & May meeting. I hope you're interested !!

F+W MEDIA FILES BANKRUPTCY

F+W Media, the major craft publisher, and parent company of Interweave Press, has filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on March 10, 2019. F+W Media publishes over 50 niche hobby magazines, including Handwoven and Spin Off. F+W was founded in 1913 in Cincinnati, Ohio as a publisher of magazines for farmers and writers. The company was owned by the Rosenthal family until 1999. Although F+W Media's future is uncertain, the successful sale of Keepsake, Blade, Martha Pullen brand, and the Original Sewing and Quilting Expo to new owners, and the strong and growing interest in hand crafts and in weaving, knitting and spinning specifically, make Handwoven and SpinOff magazines attractive investments for new owners.

You may want to make certain you have downloaded and saved all e-products you may have previously purchased from Interweave Press.

Joseph Albers Exhibit at the Heard Museum and a discussion on Color Theory by Claire Campbell Park

Saturday, March 16th several Guild members participated in a guided tour by Claire Campbell Park at the Heard Museum's exhibition 'Josef Albers in Mexico'. The exhibit displayed some of Josef Albers experiments with color perception.

Claire Campbell Park presented a hands-on demonstration and a discussion about Josef Albers 'principles of simultaneous contrast'. It was an interesting day!

RESOURCES

Heddlecraft e-magazine by Robyn Spady.

If you haven't yet taken a good look at this wonderful hand weaving source, you should do it soon. Robyn Spady produces a bi-monthly e-magazine highlighting various weaving techniques. Each issue provides an in-depth study of a structure and technique. These magazines provide a wealth of information and they are a great resource to maintain in your weaving library. There is always a study using 4 and 8 shafts. It's a good way, even for beginners to start developing and quickly advancing their weaving skills.
