To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Tirré Logston for a teaching position in your school community. I have had the privilege of working alongside her for several years as colleagues at Jewett Elementary; she works in the STEM Lab, while I serve as a classroom teacher. During this time, she has consistently demonstrated the skills, dedication, and professionalism of an outstanding educator.

As a long-time teacher in our hands-on, project-based STEM program for grades K–5, Ms. Logston has become an integral part of the Jewett Elementary community. She understands the importance of inquiry-based learning and supports students in exploring concepts with curiosity, confidence, and creativity. Her work reflects a strong commitment to ensuring that every student feels successful and engaged. She is also open to adding pieces to her lessons to be sure that we can cover all of our state standards.

Ms. Logston brings particular strength in supporting multilingual learners in our two-way immersion school. She helps ensure that lessons are clear, accessible, and meaningful for students with diverse linguistic and academic needs. She is patient and kind and creates experiences for exploration with repeated language practice for our ELLs.

Ms. Logston is kind to all staff members, families, and students alike. She is asked to do many tasks as a classified staff member; but really she does as much as a licensed teacher. She is often asked to help staff and peers with our technology issues; which are plenty! She LOVES learning new ways to use technology in the classroom and has even been able to successfully teach online because of her strengths.

As she completes her teaching degree, I have no doubt that she will transition seamlessly into a lead teaching role. She has already demonstrated the core qualities of an exceptional educator, and any school would be fortunate to have her. Her creativity is UNMATCHED. Please feel free to contact me if you need further information. I recommend her wholeheartedly, and will miss her greatly when she transitions out of our school into her own lead teacher role!

Sincerely,

Lori Leedy
