ABOUT ANGELA

Angela brings more than 25 years of real-world experience across the full talent lifecycle to every audience she works with. She has led talent functions inside organizations, advised senior HR and business leaders across industries, and designed the practices and systems that shape how people experience work and organizations perform.

Today, Angela continues to do that work as an advisor while also teaching graduate HR students at the University of Denver and contributing perspectives on talent, culture, leadership, and the workplace to leading publications.

That combination means Angela doesn't speak about work from the sidelines. She speaks from experience, translating what she's seen, learned, and put into practice into ideas audiences can actually use.

HIGHLIGHTS

- 25+ YEARS OF PRACTITIONER EXPERIENCE - Leadership across the full talent lifecycle, from recruiting through enterprise talent leadership
- ADVISOR + EDUCATOR - Partnering with organizations across industries while teaching graduate HR students at the University of Denver
- RECOGNIZED PERSPECTIVE - LinkedIn Top Voice with insights featured in 25+ publications, including Fast Company and HR.com
