

INTRODUCING OUR SPEAKER

ANGELA HEYROTH

Angela Heyroth is a talent and organizational effectiveness advisor, speaker, and adjunct professor at the University of Denver who has spent more than 25 years leading across the full talent lifecycle.

Today, she partners with senior HR and business leaders to design talent, culture, and HR practices that drive organizational performance. She is also a LinkedIn Top Voice, and her insights have been featured in Fast Company, CHRO Daily, HR.com, and other publications.

Angela brings a practical, practitioner's perspective to the intersection of people and performance, grounded in her belief that great workplaces don't happen by default, they're designed.

Angela lives in the Denver area with her family and when not speaking or advising can often be found poolside as a USA Swimming official.

*This bio is for event programs, websites, and on-stage introductions.
Please use as provided.*

angela@talentcentricdesigns.com

talentcentricdesigns.com

linkedin.com/in/angelaheyroth