

Big Springs

The Johnny Sack cabin and nearby water-wheel have been one of the most photographed sites in Island Park. The cabin is open to the public from mid-June through mid-September, and visitors are invited to visit and see firsthand the unique craftsmanship dating back to 1929. Don't forget the bread to feed the fish, ducks, and muskrats. Winter access by snowmobile only. A must see in the Island Park area!

Mesa Falls

The beautiful Upper and Lower Mesa Falls are the last prominent waterfalls on the Snake River unaffected by manmade influences. A scenic walking path leads to excellent viewpoints.

Sawtelle Peak

Sawtell Peak is located in the Caribou-Targhee National Forest roughly 1.3 miles east of Idaho's border with Montana. Elevation: 9,884'

Henry's Lake

Located just 15 miles west of Yellowstone National Park, this high mountain lake is the kind of place fishermen dream about. Henry's Lake is approximately 8 square miles in area, its surface elevation is 6,472.

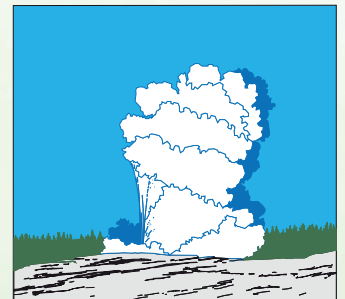

Island Park Reservoir & Dam

Island Park Reservoir is a large scenic reservoir on the Henry's Fork that covers approximately 7,280 acres. It is stocked with Rainbow Trout, and Kokanee.

Yellowstone National Park

On March 1, 1872, Yellowstone became the first national park. Yellowstone is about 2.2 million acres and has unique hydrothermal and geologic features that contain about half the world's active geysers. A few places to check out are...

- Old Faithful Inn
- Norris Geyser Basin
- Upper Falls of the Yellowstone River
- Hayden Valley
- Grand Prismatic Spring
- Yellowstone Lake
- Mammoth Hot Spring
- Tower Falls
- Gibbon Falls
- Steamboat Geyser
- Roosevelt Arch.

Wade Lake and Cliff

The lakes have no outlet; Cliff Lake is fed by three streams then sinks into an aquifer that re-emerges as Wade Lake's spring. The two Lakes are about .75 of a mile apart in the Beaverhead National Forest northwest of Yellowstone National Park at about 6,300 feet.
