

Wildflowers Along the Trail

Fiddlehead – one of only two photos that are not mine!

Photos loosely organized with more common flowers first.

Only wildflowers – no cacti.

<https://azstateparks.com/wildflowers>

© 2016 Steven Kessel

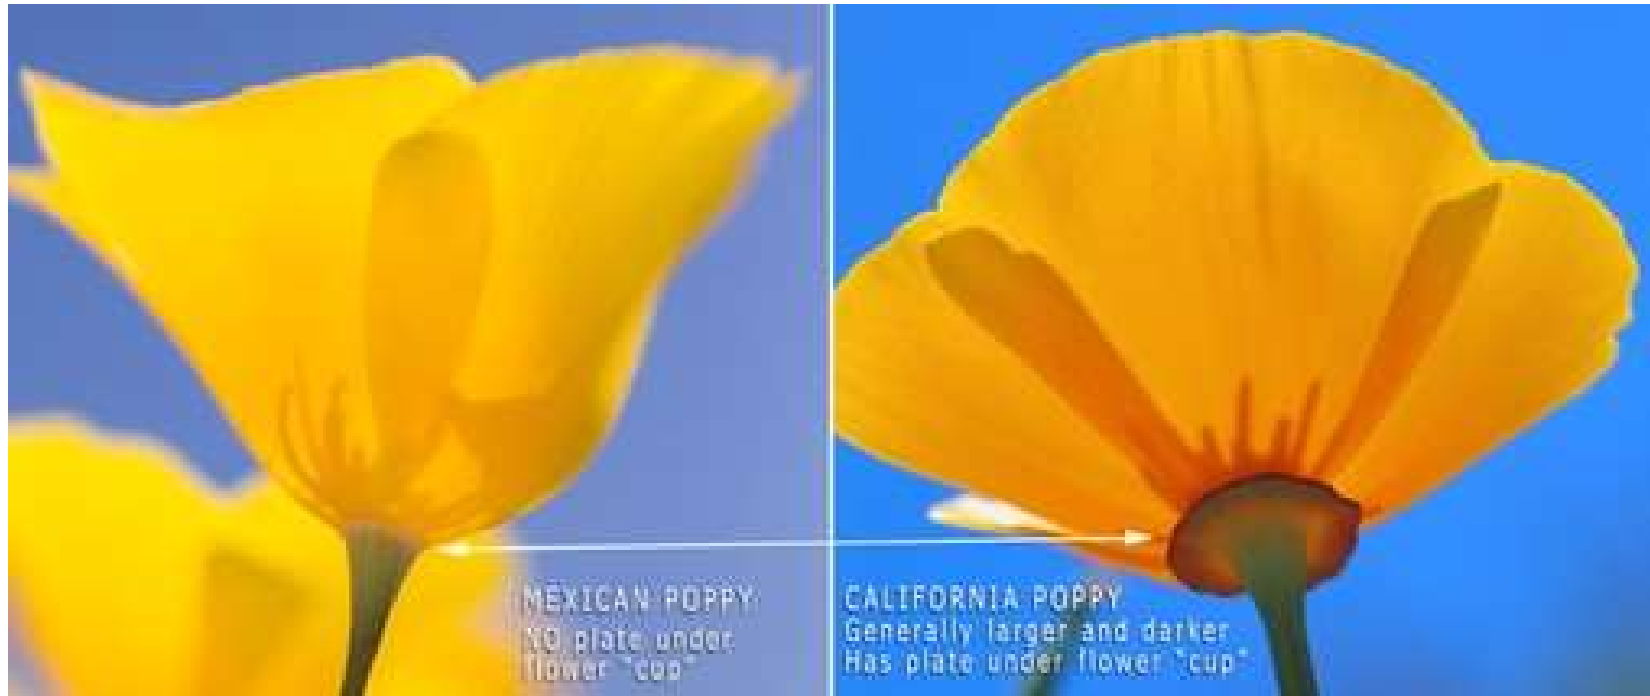

Brittle Bush

Mexican Poppies

Mexican versus California Poppy

Just subspecies – Libraries of Life.org photo

Arizona Poppy

Globe Mallow

Desert Hibiscus or Rose Mallow

Notch-Leaf Scorpion Weed

Sap is toxic. Can cause skin irritation, blisters and rashes.

Desert Marigold

ROCK DAISIES

Owls Clover - edible

Coulter's Lupine

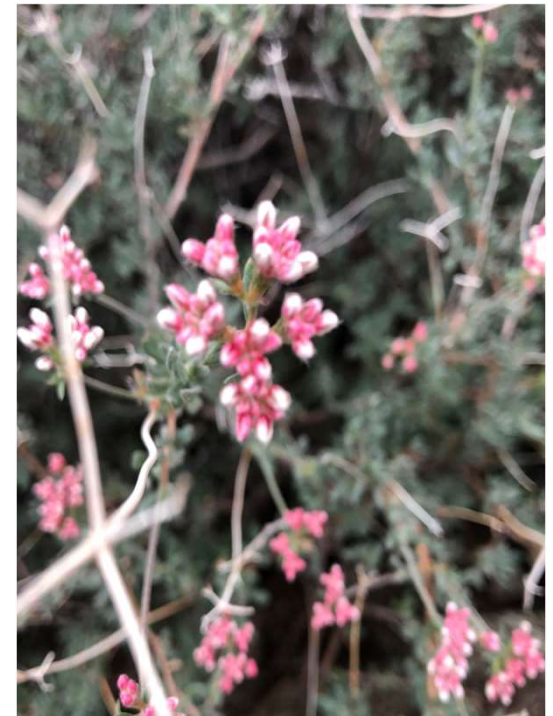

Chuparosa Or Hummingbird Bush

Cinch Weed

California Buckwheat

Giant Red Indian Paintbrush

Silverleaf Nightshade

- Potato, tomato and egg plant are also in the nightshade family.
- We often see this flower on the Tres Rio hike.

