

Youth Sunday Poem

I am a mistake
I reject the idea that
God defines me and loves me
I do not find the worth in my words
People tell me I am special but
They are wrong, it is a lie
I will be lonely forever and never find true love
They say that
Jesus loves us and cares about us
That cannot be true because
I am worthless
For so long I believed in the distorted idea that
There is a hope and a future for me
Now I look around and it is evident
Jesus is not enough
For so long I thought
True love could be found
But now I realize that
No one will ever love me
I used to believe that
My life has divine purpose
I soon realized
Life is empty and meaningless
I soon realized no one
Can heal the pain, the broken heart, and the shattered dreams i have endured
God and his love
His love for me never existed
The healing purpose and love in my life I always thought
Was so far off
I have come to the conclusion that
Jesus loves me
