COVER STORY

TUNICA NATIONAL IS A MUST-PLAY COURSE

Despite being one of the longest courses in Mississippi, Tunica National Golf and Tennis Club is a challenging but fair course. The tract, which opened in 2004, was designed by 10-time PGA Tour winner Mark McCumber.

When you find yourself in Northwest Mississippi or planning a trip to this part of the state, putting this facility on your list is a must.

There is lots of water and sand bunkers, but the two-time PGA Tour major winner didn't make the course diabolically tough. There is no doubt he could have, but enjoyability seems to be one of the things McCumber was going for at this resort course, which has lots of healthy landing areas.

Tunica National is open to the public and also features large greens, many of which you can run your ball up from the fairway.

Opinions vary, but the 9-hole stretch of holes from the fifth to the 13th is a fantastic mix of holes.

Starting with the par-4 fifth — which can play as short as 274 yards (white tees) and as long as 353 yards (black tees) — is a dog-leg left with water on the. There are a few sand bunkers on the right of the fairway and more sand short and right of the green. It's a clever hole where risk-reward comes into play as an accurate drive can give you an easy wedge into the green. The sixth is a long par-4 (480 yards from the tips and 348 yards from the green tees). It is one of two holes that runs along Highway 61. The next three holes (Nos. 7-9) feature a mixture of a par-5, par-3 and par-4. The final hole of the front nine is very similar to the fifth hole, but water is on the right side, but not a factor on the second shot.

The next four holes are a 4-3-4-3 as far as pars go. The par-3s (Nos. 11 and 13) are the two shortest on the course. The 13th is the other hole alongside Hwy. 61. The final two holes require work and paying attention as they are both long par-4s with water coming into play. The final hole requires an accurate drive and a carry over a creek, which can be a tall task for some.

Overall, the amenities are second to none. There is a great practice facility and the multi-functional clubhouse has a fully-stocked pro shop, bar-and-grill, conference/meeting rooms and a handful of indoor tennis courts.

In addition, Tunica National recently joined The Mississippi Golf Trail.

The course itself can play as long as 7,204 yards from the tips or as short as 5,180 yards from the white tees. There are five sets of tees. For more information or to make your tee time, log onto www.tunicanational.com.

GIRL POWER!

Livingston Parish duo accomplishes eye-opening feats

EVELYNN ARTIETA

This 14-year-old product of Walker High School earned a trip to Augusta (Ga.) National Golf Club for the National Finals of the Drive, Chip and Putt Championships.

The last local female to represent our area was Karstyn Altese (Diamondhead, Miss.) in 2021. She finished second in the National Finals at ANGK in the 10-11 division.

Artieta finished first in the Regional Qualifier Sept. 17 at Champions Golf Club in Houston. She scored 45 points in driving, 27 points in chipping and 60 points in putting. She will compete against nine others for the National Title on April 7, which is one day before official festivities start for The Masters.

SOPHIA MACIAS

The list of accomplishments seems to grow almost monthly for this junior golfer, who attends Episcopal High School in Baton Rouge, La.

On Sept. 10, she made history as the first female competitor to win the Overall Club Championship at Greystone Golf and Country Club in Denham Springs, La.

Macias, who resides in Denham Springs, shot rounds of 70 and 74 from the championship tees (7,100 yards) to claim the four-stroke victory. The 144 total was also a club-championship record.

"We couldn't be more proud of Sophia's incredible win at the Greystone Golf and Country Club Championship," said her father James Macias. "This victory is a testament to her unwavering dedication and relentless pursuit of excellence in golf. She went out there and handled her challenge, which is great because it sheds light on her. She's going through a college recruiting process. It's been fun to watch her get the victory. We are very proud of her even taking up the challenge, much less winning."

Since that quote late last year, Sophia has verbally committed to Tulane University in New Orleans.

During the summer, she got a chance to play in the Steph Curry Underrated Golf Tour. Macias was the only female player from Louisiana on the tour. The unique opportunity not only enhanced her skills, but also earned her a coveted exemption to compete on the tour for the next two years.

Closer to home, this wasn't the first time Sophia has played in the Greystone Golf and Country Club Championship, but it was the first time playing in this annual competition from over 7,100 yards. The 2022 competition was from under 5,000 yards, but after that victory, the younger Macias starting thinking about competition for the Overall Championship.

"It started off as an idea like, 'Hey, wouldn't it be fun if we all played with the tips,'" Sophia said. "I spent a lot of time working out, getting stronger, working on speed, and training my body to match my game. I've worked on the mental side of things. My mental game has been a struggle, and that's a big thing with all golfers. It's learning how to be okay with bad shots. They happen. Moving on and growing from them. I wasn't hitting it perfectly (at the club championship), but I was learning how to recover and move on from bad shots."

Sophia has played golf since she was seven and joined Greystone six years ago. Her father credits the club for helping elevate her game to another level. Macias has been the Baton Rouge High School Women's Golf Metro Champion and Player of the Year for three years straight. She is also the reigning four-time BREC Women's Baton Rouge Amateur Champion. In addition to numerous junior-tour titles, Sophia also won the TaylorMade Junior Open Texas Championship last fall.

The Drive, Chip and Putt National Finals will be televised by The Golf Channel.

"I'm so excited to represent my region," Evelyn said to the local Baton Rouge CBS Affiliate station WAFB in a recent interview. "I've always wanted to go and watch The Masters. I've driven through Augusta before, but now I get to go there and play there."

Victories like this recent regional-qualifying one have not come easy for Artieta, a high-school freshman.

"At first I was like not playing well, so I kept coming in third or fourth and being beaten by a lot of strokes by more experienced girls. I was like oh my gosh, I'm never going to get there," Evelyn recalled. "I started practicing and putting in the work and then I caught up to everyone and started winning some tournaments."

Parents Emily and Corey are extremely proud of their daughter's accomplishments.

"It is an opportunity that she earned herself. We didn't have anything to do with it. I don't swing the club and her mom doesn't. We just take her to practice. She had to do it all on her own, so we're extremely proud of her," Corey Artieta said.
